Voluntary System Not Broken Down Says Premier King

Policy Will Be Continued—Appeals for Encouragement of Enlistments for Overseas

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said tonight the voluntary system of overseas service had not been shown to be providing reinforcements for the frontline troops and will be continued.

Speaking in the wake of a Cabinet division which resulted in the dismissal from the Cabinet of Col. J. L. Ralston as Defence Minister last week, Mr. King said he appealed for the co-operation of Canadians in encouraging men in the home defence army to enlist for service overseas.

He said, too, that drafties should be retained in the army as they were "a potential ultimate reserve of reinforcements whose compulsory employment in any theatre may, in the light of developing circumstances, have to be reconsidered."

In his half-hour speech over a Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network, the Prime Minister, speaking slowly and carefully, gave the following sequence of events which led to the resignation of Col. Ralston and the appointment of Gen. McNaughton, former commander of the Canadian Army Overseas, as his successor:

1 Col. Ralston returned from a visit to the battlefronts to urge conscription for overseas to meet a possible shortage of infantry reinforcements in the next few months.

2 When he realized that Col. Ralston's resignation would follow unless his recommendation were accepted, Mr. King sought the advice of Gen. McNaughton, who said he believed the possibilities of obtaining the required reinforcements by voluntary means had not been exhausted.

3 It had always been believed that Canadian forces, having begun as voluntary forces, would be more effective and the country more united if they continued on this basis as long as it was effective.

4 To increase the flow of infantry reinforcements the effort to encourage voluntary enlistments would be intensified.

5 Only about 8,000 of the less than 60,000 home defence army were sufficiently trained as infantry reinforcements to be ready for combat at any early date.

Mr. King said that while the Government could not announce a detailed plan of demobilization, it had been decided to follow the principle that those who "who have given the longest and hardest service will be given the first opportunity of demobilization."

Closing his address, Mr. King said that "partisan controversy and distraction at this time will weaken, not strengthen Canada's war effort." The help and co-operation of the people as a whole were needed.

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on Interna tional Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1944, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Describing how Middelburg, Walcheren Island, was freed, The Times correspondent says it has not been greatly damaged, but shown signs of heavy bombing during the fighting in Zeeland in May, 1940. It could be entered only by boats over flooded fields.

Dutch people sang, laughed, cheered and embraced British soldiers as crowds were the streets of this beautiful old town that fighting had by-passed because neither British nor Germans could fire at each other.

Services of thanksgiving will be held today in all churches.

At German general headquarters a champagne party was proceeding while the Allied troops were entering the town. The general himself refused to surrender until a British brigadier arrived to accept his parole.

Watching German prisoners being taken away reminded me of a bomber ferry pilot's salvo back home for the first time in four and a half years.

The Allies see this now virtually been cleared of German ships, says The Times correspondent at Mediterranean headquarters.

A year ago the Nazis had 110,000 tons of shipping there, but the British Navy steadily whittled

Red Armies Massing for Final Drive

Berlin Reports Calm "Before the Storm"

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—Russian armies were moving into position tonight for the massive drive described by Premier Stalin as "the decisive offensive against the vital centres of Germany."

Already the flames of the new great battles were flickering in the night sky, and the Soviet radio said: "If one can speak of relative calm on the Eastern Front, it is certainly the calm before the storm."

Premier Stalin, in his order of the day for Tuesday, 27th anniversary of the Russian Revolution, asserted "The Red Army and Navy are ready to strike new blows at the enemy."

One of the first of the new blows may be struck at Budapest, under close siege by Marshal Rodion Malinovsky's 2nd and 3rd Ukrainian Army tonight and in increasing danger of being surrounded.

Berlin reported new concentrations of Russian tanks in the outskirts of the Hungarian capital while a German military commentator stated the Russians had attacked from Tuna River bridgeheads north of Budapest and seemed bent on advancing toward Budapest from the north.

The Germans have described heavy Soviet troop movements in Yugoslavia and the capture of Vidin, saying an offensive soon will be aimed toward Krakow.

Say Officers of Toronto Reserve Unit to Resign

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (Thursday) (CP).—The Toronto Globe and Mail said today it is prepared to say it had learned that 80 officers of a Toronto Reserve Army unit have submitted oral resignations to Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, officer commanding Military District No. 2, and that it is "in writing" today.

The paper said it understood the officers agreed to resign in protest against the Government's "lack of action, its no-conscription policies, the 'Zombie army,' and quoted a senior officer of the unit as saying:

"We feel the Zombies (Home Defence troops) are only duplicating the work of the Reserve Army, which was set up to defend Canada, train civilian law and order in case of difficulties and do other duties. Now it is proposed to send it to the front."

Nine Killed and 80 Hurt in Wreck

COLPAX, Cal., Nov. 8 (AP).—The Tuscan, crack Santa Fe limited, seemed to "hit something going at full speed" before dawn today, a passenger said, and a shudder ran through the train as derailment of the engine and seven cars threw it from the rails.

The Globe and Mail did not indicate the source of its information.

The 1st Battalion was serving overseas.

Wartime Courage, Sacrifice Could Unite Canada in Peace

If Canadians could give in peacetime half of the courage, ingenuity and self-sacrifice that they showed willingly in wartime, they could achieve full union and go on to new achievements, declared Maxwell Halton, C.B.C. war correspondent, speaking at the Gyro Club luncheon yesterday at the Empress Hotel in connection with the Seventh Victory Loan.

At Carpiquet, where Victoria's Canadian Scottish formed part of the heroic attacking force, and where Mr. Halton met Lt.-Col. Cameron Matthews, M.C. and Bar, and Major Gordon Grechen, the war correspondent saw French - speaking Canadians of the Chaudieres and English-speaking Canadians of the North Shores going forward together across a wheat-field—getting on line from men, like machines, like robots, but with great courage and skill.

They could accomplish that in war, and could reach and take their objective though their losses were heavy.

Canadians should be able to do it in peace, he asserted.

Mr. Halton spoke of a road sign on the battery-fought Caen-Falaise line, stating "Do not relax now and drive slowly." A good many Canadians were relaxed now for that road, he said, following the battle.

"But we at home can't relax a minute as long as this grim and cruel war is going on," he declared. "We can't ever relax after the war."

He described a German girl he questioned in a house near an American advance post on the edge of Germany a girl brought up in Nazi Youth movements. She had just "Well with the war, but if we lose it will be a second crucifixion." Three million of young Germans, fanatically Nazi, taught at the age of nine to throw hand grenades and glowing to guns.

"It will be almost as difficult to change and educate them as to educate ourselves," Mr. Halton declared.

CHAMBER IN BRUSSELS

He spoke also of a German torture chamber in Brussels when a Belgian Maquis, underground agent, who served as an escortman in the German concentration camp and who lived to tell the fate of those tortured by German and Belgian Fascists, was finally discovered. He was tortured. His wife was arrested, tortured and killed. The underground agent was thrown into a cell to die.

And there, during the agent dipped his broken fingers into his own blood and wrote on the cell wall

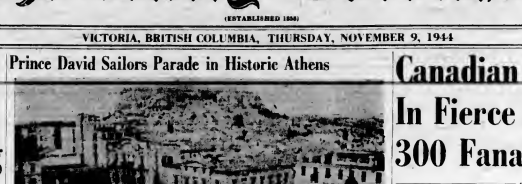
Prince David Sailors Parade in Historic Athens



During the parade of Canadian and British commandos through Athens, the greatest throng to watch them pass gathered in Constitution Square shown in this picture. The Acropolis can be seen in the background. The seamen were from H.M.C.S. Prince David, and before going to Greece had taken part in the Normandy and Southern France invasions.

Greater Victoria and Island Units Pass Loan Objectives

Local Quota Raised To Seven Million

All Vancouver Island units reached their Seventh Victory Loan quotas yesterday, Greater Victoria late last night, piercing units which were reported over the top earlier in the day. "Greater Victoria immediately embarked as a new over-subscription drive with the slogan, "Seven Million for the Seventh Loan."

Courtenay-Comox reported yesterday a last-minute spurt had put that unit over the top, Saanich, Esquimalt Rural and Gulf Islands followed, Cowichan-Duncan went over earlier in the day. Other units had reported reaching their quotas previously. Final figure for the day showed the island was over its $9,000,000 objective by nearly $700,000 and had only $120,450 to go to reach $10,000,000.

Victory Loan officials announcing Greater Victoria's success declared themselves highly pleased and expressed confidence that final figure would show substantial over-subscription. The Victoria organization, they said, "is all out to get a high over-subscription as a tribute from those on the home front to the boys overseas."

Greater Victoria's Victory Loan people will be presented this afternoon at 4 o'clock at a ceremony at the Bond Shell, View Street, the presentation being made by R. M. Brink, of Vancouver, vice-chairman of the National War Finance Committee for British Columbia, to Air Archie Wills, senior alderman.

Courtenay telephoned yesterday to say the Courtenay-Comox unit was officially reporting $89,600 for the day, bringing its total to $547,480, or $7,480 over its objective, and that the unit was now "bragging" not "lagging."

Every officially reported last night that subscriptions in the Victoria area totaled $6,180,000, representing 100.4 per cent of quota, and that Pacific Command had 111 per cent of $1,800,000.

Employees of Victoria Tug Co., Ltd., yesterday reached 200 per cent of objective.

Other payroll groups going over included Sweeney Coopertage Ltd., Dowell's Pacific Transfer Co., Ltd., Sprott-Shaw Business Business Institute Ltd., O. B. Mundle Ltd., and the Women's Christian Association.

Seventh Victory Loan Score to Date

Hurricane Lashes Troops on Leyte

GEN. MACARTHUR HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Nov. 8 (Thursday) (AP).—Lashed by a raging tropical hurricane, the United States 24th Infantry Division fought in mud and slime yesterday along the winding road to Ormoc against fresh Japanese forces trying to stop guarding the approaches to the enemy's port of last hope on Western Leyte.

Allies Using Port Of Port of Piraeus

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—Britain's Foreign Secretary Eden reported to the House of Commons today that the Greek port of Piraeus has "been got to work again, in part at least" and said this was due to "the most strenuous efforts by the Royal Navy and the Royal Engineers and of the civilian population in the Piraeus."

By the end of October we had reached a figure of supplies unloaded in Piraeus alone of almost 3,000 tons a day," he told the House in a report on his visit to Greece.

The Foreign Secretary informed the House, too, that he did not believe "informed opinion yet fully understands how complete, how meritorious and how successful the devastation inflicted by the German armies in Allied lands as they are compelled to withdraw."

On to Seven Million

ONE factor that gives our troops confidence when they go into action is the knowledge that Field Marshal Montgomery will not send them into battle until he is ready—until he has the equipment and supplies. That does not mean the minimum needed to bring victory, but enough to provide a wide margin in case of unexpected difficulties. We always ponder that fact. Greater Victoria reached its Seventh Victory Loan quota yesterday, but that is merely the minimum. There must be a wide margin to offset unforseen contingencies and make victory absolutely sure. Let us back the supply margin Montgomery gives our men by increasing the money margin behind the supplies. Make it a big one. Buy an extra bond today. Make it "Seven Million for the Seventh Loan."

Two Confess to Killing Moyne

CAIRO, Nov. 8 (AP).—Police announced today that two Jewish prisoners had confessed that they assassinated Lord Moyne, British Minister of State resident in the Middle East, on orders from the extreme Jewish Nationalists.

Meanwhile, an elaborate military funeral was held for Lord Moyne and his chauffeur, Lance-Corporal Fuller, who were shot dead as they drove up to the minister's residence here.

Police said the prisoners, one of whom was wounded by Egyptian police as they fired across the residence grounds, had declared: "We are members of the Fighters for Freedom of Israel and what we did was on instructions from this organization." They gave their names as Moshe Cohen and Hamkh Salomon, and contended that Lord Moyne's policies were prejudicial to Jewish aspirations for a national home in Palestine.

CONTINUE SYSTEM

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—The Prices Board announced tonight that the present system of rationing new farm machinery and equipment will be continued "as long as supplies are more nearly in line with consumer demands." Even with an early end of the war there is not likely to be at least a year before the supply of farm machinery can be increased to meet all demands, it was said.

Nazis Boast Of New V-2 Robot Bomb

Claim Heavy Damage Inflicted in London

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—The German High Command claimed today that the London area was under bombardment by the new pilotless weapon V-2, reported to be a long-range rocket which propels a ton or more of explosives on a 50-mile-high trajectory at 700 miles an hour.

Neutral sources have said the enemy had started to use the mysterious weapon against New York.

The announcement was the opening paragraph of the daily communique broadcast from Berlin.

"The area of Greater London has been under fire by the V-1 robot bombs since June 13 with short interruptions and in varying strength," said the Nazi announcement.

"The fire has been intensified for some weeks past by the use of a second and far more effective explosive missile, V-2."

The possibility of robot attacks on the United States was acknowledged by the War and Navy Department at Washington yesterday.

British censorship apparently forbade any serious comment on the German announcement as to whether the V-2 missiles were doing any damage.

German propagandists filled the air tonight with boasts that the V-2 is more devastating than the V-1 flying bomb, which it overtook and

To Supply Power To Island Cities

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—Premier Hart announced here today that the British Columbia Government is preparing plans to supply electric power to Nanaimo and Duncan because of the reported inability of the B.C. Electric Company to continue to ensure power to those two towns.

At present Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities supplies power to those two places after purchasing the power from the B.C. Electric. The latter firm has advised Nanaimo-Duncan Utilities that it cannot renew the contract expires it will not be renewed because of demand for power in Victoria.

Premier Hart said that at the coming session of the Legislature the Government will submit legislation authorizing the Government to enter the public utility field and that as soon as possible would call for tenders on a hydro development.

The power would be sent specific on the site of a possible development, but suggested Nanaimo and Campbell River as two likely sources.

Mon C. Wallgren New Governor of Washington State

SEATTLE, Nov. 8 (AP).—The election of Senator Mon C. Wallgren as governor of Washington was unprecedented tonight by Governor Arthur B. Langlie, Republican incumbent who sought to succeed himself.

Late today, after trailing by more than 30,000 votes throughout the day, the governor issued a statement in his "my fellow citizens" who are "the judge and jury," and conceded defeat after two days of counting efforts. The governor's statement urged all factions to forget the election battle and to co-operate in building a greater state and to work "to develop whatever we can for the finest in government." He promised to aid the new governor to the best of his ability in the remaining weeks of his administration.

Wallgren, who will take office the second week in January, will resign his United States senatorial seat and the governor will appoint his successor.

The surge of Democratic votes carried all others of the Democratic state ticket into victorious leads, as the returns gave a mounting majority to President Roosevelt throughout the day.

Representative Warren G. Magnuson, who formed the state's congressional district to seek the senatorial seat vacated by Senator Homer T. Bone, likewise was leading his Republican opponent, Major

Impressive Victory for Roosevelt Adds Strength

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (CP).—President Roosevelt today faced the prospect of United States foreign and domestic and foreign problems during armed with an unmistakable expression of his people's confidence in his leadership for another four years.

Belated returns added to the impressive margin by which he swept the Republican candidate, Governor Dewey, of New York, in yesterday's presidential election.

It is expected that the President will seek once and in mean plans for an early meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and President Stalin to iron out the unfinished details of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals for a world security organization.

This is necessary as a preliminary to the United Nations conference the American Government proposes to call early in 1945 in an effort to bring into being as soon as possible the "United Nations" League for Peace and Security.

In these activities it is considered probable that Mr. Roosevelt will seek and win the co-operation of Governor Dewey, who is expected to be no less magnanimous than the late President Wilson was when he defeated by the President in 1916, declared that he was "my President" and proceeded to support the Roosevelt efforts to organize the United States for victory.

There was a chance that final counts would leave Governor Dewey with fewer than the 18 states and 83 electoral votes which Wendell L. Willkie carried four years ago.

With Ohio and Michigan still a toss-up, the President was added up like this:

For President, 26 states with 413 electoral votes.

For Dewey 13 states with 118 votes.

And, of 39,208,762 popular votes counted, Mr. Roosevelt's lead stood at 20,866,569 to Dewey's 18,342,307.

As the ballot tabulations piled up, it became more and more apparent that Governor Dewey could claim only Vermont in New England.

That was where he got most of his states and most of his electoral votes.

In 11 Southern and five border states it was a clean sweep for Mr. Roosevelt. And the East and Far West went as strongly for him as the Midwest did for Dewey.

In Michigan most of the remaining count was in Wayne County and industrial Detroit, where Roosevelt backing was heaviest. He defeated by the President in 1940, declared that he was "my President"

Last German Pocket in Southwest Holland— American Infantry Elements in New Assault

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Nov. 8 (CP).—Fighting-mad Polish troops of the First Canadian army tonight were battling fiercely to wipe out a force of 300 standout-die fanatical German holdouts in the last German pocket in Southwest Holland at the approaches to the wrecked Moerdijk bridges across the Maas (Meuse) River.

The strangest fight on this front in weeks went on tonight under a barrage of Canadian and German artillery fire from both sides of the river as the Poles struck against strong German resistance and an anti-tank ditch behind which the Germans are holding out.

It is strange, because the Moerdijk bridges are broken and cannot be used either by the attackers or defenders and the German Fifteenth Army has pulled out of Southwest Holland. It is another German suicide effort and the Polish troops angered that this capable German force is continuing to resist, are relentlessly putting on the pressure to wipe it out.

Concrete barriers block three roads leading to the German pocket, and in an attack today the Poles blew gaps in two roads with 75-pounder anti-tank guns. They sent tanks through one gap but on the second thrust a tank was hit and the road there was again blocked.

On Walcheren, to the west, British troops dealing with the last German resistance in the southern part of the island have by-passed a battery of German guns which have been giving trouble, but it is not yet known whether the guns have been captured.

An unconfirmed report said 1,000 prisoners were taken in that area today by the Tommies.

AMERICANS IN TWO-WAY ATTACK

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, PARIS, Nov. 8 (AP).—Elements of United States Army Infantry lashed out in a two-pronged attack along the snake-like Meuse-Nancy front today, capturing 18 towns and advancing up to three miles on a seven-mile-wide front.

The major American effort was launched northward against the flames of Metz and fallen Nancy, where the Germans had formed multiple strongholds of the shallow fertile River and stabbed one more than two miles at some points.

The towns enveloped included Maily-sur-Seille, eastern part of

Transportation For Wheat for Export Needed

REGINA, Nov. 8 (CP).—George Meyer, of Winnipeg, chairman of the Canadian Wheat Board grain Commissioners, announced tonight plans under way for a "tremendous" all-rail movement of wheat for export during the 1945-46 crop year, added, "we will not be able to place sufficient grain in Eastern positions to allow the close of navigation to lock after demand."

Mr. Meyer told the annual convention of Saskatchewan Pool Elevators Limited that grain growers were still "disappearing" at a rate of 30,000-000 bushels a month, and the demand was increasing and the United States were continuing.

"We are being pressed with more transportation than a year ago, and we only used one more," he said. "In spite of increased transportation the situation at the Lakehead is critical from the standpoint of our ability to get enough grain down there before close of navigation."

The grain expert said there was not enough storage in Eastern positions so do the job which confronted grain handling units last summer and during the winter. March. About 40 per cent of prospective marketings for 1944-45 crop year, ending July 31, had been delivered compared with 32 per cent a year ago.

SAN CLOSED SHOP

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 (AP).—A state proposal to ban closed union shops apparently received support in Florida in Tuesday's election. A similar measure was slated in Arkansas but voters in California rejected such a plan. Nebraska overwhelmingly defeated a proposal to impose state-wide prohibition.

King Explains Policy on Army Reinforcements

Says Conscription Full of Difficulty

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's radio address follows:

I am going to speak to you tonight of Canada's support of our army overseas.

The Government has been giving the closest attention to all the available facts. We have been examining the probabilities of the unknown future course of the war. We have been considering particularly the methods of supplying reinforcements required by the army. As the risk of increasing temporary anxiety we have taken the time needed to look at all the facts. In wartime conditions change very rapidly. Five years' experience has taught us all that nothing is more uncertain than war.

Oh! How Delightful

Oh, how enchanting, can certainly be said of the arrivals or dressy occasions dresses.

SCURRAHS

I emphasize the question of reinforcements because no other question is of more importance to our fighting men. The Government is fully aware of the public concern about reinforcements.

Let me begin by placing the question in its true perspective. In the picture of Canada's total military effort. Since 1939, nearly 1,000,000 men have served in Canada's three armed forces. The present strength of the three services is about 780,000 but not 80,000 are volunteers. These figures represent a stupendous achievement in raising fighting men for a nation of less than 12,000,000 people, particularly when account is taken of the manpower required for war production and civilian services.

The problem of reinforcements concerns only one of the three armed services. The navy and the air force have no such problem. The navy, with 80,000 men in the service, has reached the peak of its manpower needs. The air force, with 190,000 men in its ranks, has passed the peak of its manpower requirements. For that, we should all be thankful.

The reason is that air force casualties, though costly, have been very much lighter than were anticipated. The present strength of the army, including the draftees, is over 455,000 men. Of this number, about 380,000 are volunteers.

Over 45,000 men have volunteered for general service since January 1 of the present year. Most of the men now in the army have been in its ranks for one, two, three or four years. All but recent recruits have had battle training.

It is against this background that we should examine the statement that reinforcements without adequate training are being sent into action. The Canadian Army is a huge organization. At one time or another, over 800,000 men have served in its ranks during this war. At that great number a few may have failed to receive all the training they prescribed. Competent officers have made the most careful review. They find that the number of these cases of omission is exceedingly small. The highest military advisers of the Government are satisfied that reinforcements sent into action have been well trained.

The record of Canada's Army in Italy, France, Belgium and Holland is not the record of an army of which any part lacked adequate training. On the contrary, the military achievements of our army are the best possible evidence of the efficiency of its training. Since they went into action in July, 1943, our troops have received a steady stream of reinforcements to replace casualties.

The recent victories on the Scheldt and the advance to those who say that, because of insufficiently trained reinforcements, our army is not being adequately supported.

BASE REINFORCEMENTS ON TOTAL CASUALTIES

The need for reinforcements is, of course, based upon the number of casualties. When we speak of the number of casualties, this does not mean the number killed. It means the number killed, wounded, missing and prisoners of war, and also those who, because of sickness or other incapacity, are not available for immediate combat.

The probable number of casualties has to be estimated in advance. Before "D" Day, no one could possibly know how great the casualties would be in Northwestern Europe. The military experts of all the forces which landed in France made the most careful estimates of probable casualties. Those estimates were based on experience in other theatres, on the particular nature of the operations in France and the Low Countries, and on the most careful appreciation of the strength of enemy resistance.

In the actual fighting, the total casualties in our army have not been as great as the number estimated and provided for. Infantry casualties were lower than expected in the actual landings and higher than estimated in the heavy fighting since the beachheads were established in June.

The Army has been obliged to transfer some of the men originally trained for other arms into the pool of infantry reinforcements. Every procedure is known as "remustering." Such transfers are bound to be a disappointment for men who have been highly trained in a particular arm of the service and find themselves obliged, by the circumstances of war, to transfer to another.

But such troops are not untrained. All "remustered" troops have had basic infantry training. In addition to basic training and the training they have received in their particular arm, they are given further specialized infantry training before being sent into combat.

I now come to the question: Is there an adequate supply of reinforcements for the army? In the opinion of the military authorities, no difficulty is likely to arise except in relation to reinforcements for the infantry. Infantry reinforcements have been adequate to meet requirements to date. But, during his recent visit to the army overseas, Colonel Ralston learned that to provide replacements for infantry casualties at present rates, the flow of infantry reinforcements from Canada should be accelerated.

THOUSANDS OF MEN NOW IN TRAINING

One fact needs to be emphasized. There is not an overall shortage of potential reinforcements. Many thousands of men are in training now and enlistments are continuing at an encouraging rate. Because we cannot tell how long the war may last, we must, as long as the present need may arise, continue to recruit men for the army to keep up the supply of reinforcements. We must recruit and those who enlist from now on will not be available until they are trained.

Colonel Ralston's report to the Government disclosed an immediate problem which had to be faced. That problem is the need for means of speeding up the flow of fully trained infantry reinforcements to meet, not an overall shortage of reinforcements now, but a possible shortage in the next few months.

The question study of you will ask at once is: Why not send overseas some of the draftees who are fully trained in Canada under the National Resources Mobilization Act?

That will mean to many of you the easiest way of meeting the problem. It is not, however, in accord with the policy of keeping our army overseas a 100 per cent voluntary army as a possible case. The voluntary system of raising our overseas forces has produced splendid results during the years of war.

We have always believed that Canada's forces, having begun as voluntary forces, would be more effective, and that the country would be more united in their support, if we continue to rely upon the voluntary system for reinforcements so long as the voluntary system continued to be effective.

Colonel Ralston had grave doubts as to the effect upon the voluntary system of any recommendation that would have required agreement by the Government that no alternative existed to the despatch of draftees overseas as reinforcements. I do not need to say that the decision the Government was then obliged to take. Days of anxious deliberation were followed by an exploration of all possible alternatives.

What I realized was that unless Colonel Ralston's recommendation were accepted by the Cabinet, his resignation would follow. I felt it to be my duty as Prime Minister, to seek to have such grave advice, I believed as he was available. I accordingly consulted General McNaughton. As the soldier and the commander of the Canadian Army, I knew there was no one who had the interests of our army and the men overseas closer to his heart. General McNaughton expressed, also, his belief that voluntary methods of securing the required reinforcements by the voluntary system had not been exhausted.

The recommendation made by Colonel Ralston was not accepted. Following his resignation, Gen. McNaughton assumed the office of Minister of National Defence.

I mention deeply the difference which led to Col. Ralston's resignation. No man in Canada has given more selfless and devoted service to his country throughout the war. In my master Col. Ralston has followed the dictates of his conscience as what he feels he owes to his pledged word.

I need not give assurances of Gen. McNaughton's devotion to his country, or of his determination to see that full support is given to the army.

It is important to remember that the former Minister of National Defence and the present minister have been actuated by similar motives in what They differ only as to the means of reaching that goal.

Let me give you some facts and figures which were before the Government in reaching its decision.

There is a widespread impression that the first conscripted men and draftees have been sitting around in military camps in Canada since 1941 or 1942 drawing good pay and doing little or nothing to help win the war. That picture is altogether false in correct. The facts are quite different.

TOTAL DRAFTEE FORCE IS UNDER 60,000 MEN

In March, 1941, we began to call up men for compulsory service in the Canada for the defence of the war. Up to September 30, 1944, the army had accepted about 180,000 draftees. The present total number of men enrolled as draftees is about 64,000. Nearly 40,000 have been on extended leave, on compassionate or other grounds. Many of them are unsuited for military duties. Of the so-called "home defence" force the effective total strength, however, is under 60,000.

Here I pause to correct one widespread false impression about the draftees. Of the 60,000 only 32,000 are from the forces of Quebec, and only 28,000 from all Canada are French speaking.

You will ask what has happened to the other 62,000 draftees accepted for the army since 1941. There has been a wastage of about 33,000, to men discharged for medical or other reasons which unfitted them to be soldiers. Some 4,000 draftees have enlisted as volunteers in the navy or the air force. The largest group, 43,000 have enlisted as volunteers for general service for the army. General service includes service overseas. In the army overseas, fighting today are nearly thousands of former draftees once draftees.

The "home defence" army is not a static force. Its composition is continually changing. Each year, some 15,000 men have been called up and enrolled as draftees, and more than 25,000 draftees have undergone their general service. Since the landing in France in June, reinforcements for overseas from the "home defence" troops have been higher than the numbers called up and accepted as draftees.

From a purely military standpoint, there is no argument that it is preferable to have a volunteer army than with volunteers. The military authorities report that enlisting gives the draftee a new outlook, new self-respect, and a determination that cannot from individuals a good decision That is bound to make them better soldiers.

This is very important, because we are as much concerned with the quality, as with the quantity, of men sent overseas as reinforcements.

We must remember that if draftees are sent overseas, many other volunteers, they will not be going to reinforce an army of drafted men. Over and over again it has been said that conscripted men would be treated without enthusiasm by the volunteers they were sent overseas to join. It is also said that the presence of conscripts would constitute a source of division, and possible disaffection in the fighting units. That is nevertheless a risk the Government is prepared to take. If it were necessary to enable Canada to bear her just share of the load in the struggle for the world.

But that is not the situation There are some thousands of trained volunteers already overseas or about to be dispatched overseas as reinforcements. Others are being recruited. There are, in addition many thousands of volunteers in training in the army in Canada Every day draftees are volunteering for overseas service We believe their number can be increased by emphasizing anew the need and the opportunity for overseas service.

We had to ask ourselves one other question: How many additional men would be immediately available if compulsory service resorted to to enter the army?

I am glad to be able to tell you that the present effective total of draftees to the army is under 60,000. Of that number only about 20,000 are considered to be material for infantry reinforcements. Some 16,000 of these men are trained as infantry.

ONLY SMALL FORCE ITSELF AVAILABLE

It is estimated that about 2,000 of these are sufficiently trained so that they could be ready for combat at an early date.

Without any compulsion or any intensification of present methods of securing volunteers, the rest of the draftees would volunteer. We believe many more can be secured by a special appeal. The actual difference in numbers secured by the two methods might be very small indeed. The voluntary system has not broken down. At the moment it is subject to an added strain when calls for an immediate effort have to be made, particularly to provide personnel in an advanced stage of training

How great the difficulties would be in substituting conscription for overseas service for the voluntary system no one can foresee. But every one who is honest with himself knows that there would be great difficulties and that they might be very grave. Instead, we are redoubling our efforts to secure the voluntary action by the voluntary method. In short, we are making a special effort to get the pledged word.

I need not give assurances of Gen. McNaughton's devotion to his country, or of his determination to see that full support is given to the army.

Instead, we are redoubling our efforts to secure the voluntary action by the voluntary method. In short, we are making a special effort to get the pledged word.

Many of you have sons who are not to be sent overseas. But others are not disbanded? There are some who have been in the service since early in 1942 draftees who have undergone training and service as thousands. Many more are being called up. Still more are liable for service overseas now that it is clear that the need for "home defence" has ceased.

Another reason is that while the war is in the present stage or stage where the Government can reasonably look forward to demobilization, it has been decided to adopt the principle that those men who have served the longest and the hardest service in the army shall be first opportunity of demobilization. Obviously that means a difficult problem in discharge and in employment opportunities for those with overseas service

But this does not mean that soldiers will be demobilized in idleness. As long as we have an army there is work which must be done by the mass base of its operations. We must maintain a considerable military establishment for the training of reinforcements, the provision of supplies and many other such operational duties

Military garrisons in Newfoundland and on the coasts cannot be entirely abandoned. Many of these duties will have to be performed by volunteers who are not fit for overseas service. Some of these duties will necessarily continue to be discharged by draftees

While we prefer the voluntary system for overseas service, compulsion for service in Canada cannot to be used to ensure that its men of military age perform national service required by our war effort. Those who are physically fit will be required to do their part. That so long as they are in the army, the Government of Canada will continue to be a potential skilled labour and reinforcements whose compulsory employment in any theatre may, in the light of developments, therefore have to be considered

The present flow of infantry reinforcements for the army we shall normally our effort to encourage voluntary enlistment. The existing establishment of the army Canada and in England will be reviewed with the object of freeing every volunteer who is fit for combat duty. We shall continue to draft men reaching military age for compulsory training and service

PERSONAL APPEAL TO SOLDIER IS PLANNED

We shall make every effort to have all draftees told individually of the need for their services We shall also make every effort to have each draftee told individually of the practical benefits to his own future of becoming a volunteer and enjoying the full opportunities for successful re-establishment to civil life. In this we shall follow the principle set forth by General McNaughton "You cannot drive men of spirit but you can encourage and lead them."

Freedom is the imperishable fact that every Canadian in uniform at sea, in the air and on every fighting front has set his own choice. In this world conflict Canada has proclaimed a rule of noble warfare. The light to their eyes is the light of liberty, and the fire to their hearts is the flame dedicated to the service of their fellowmen.

This is not the hour to destroy that magnificent record. It is the hour to kindle the fire of free service in the hearts of all our young men to the army and outside its ranks.

I would ask any fellow Canadians, without distinction of race or creed or party, to join with me in the prayer that I now make for full support to Canada's army overseas I ask all to put their backs into what we have joined in the appeal for the War Victory Loan. This is a fight and, it should bring a victory and even greater response.

No pride could be greater than our pride in what our armed forces are going to do to win the war and to give Canada a foremost place among the free nations of the world.

To our forces overseas I say will belong to the men who are fighting Canada's battle today and to those men and women who are giving them full support. They will be the leaders of our Canada when peace comes.

To you, young men, who are serving in Canada's "Home Defence" forces, I would like to make a special appeal.

Because of the training you have already received you are in an exceptional position to give service which is particularly needed at this time. I ask you to do the need.

Let me emphasize the opportunity—the greatest you will ever have—to further serve your country and your honor to those nearest your families. You will never regret the decision to do all you possibly can to support Canada's fighting men.

In doing that, you will be helping to destroy the enemy at his smashed and to provide security and opportunity for your children. You will be helping to prevent the growth of misunderstanding, bitterness and division. You will be helping to preserve His strength through years to come. You will be helping to lay the foundations of a better world.

I appeal no less earnestly to the friends and kinsfolk of our young men to help and encourage them in the decision to which you have come. Help to them through the rest of their lives.

It is the Government's responsibility to make the decision as to the best method to secure reinforcements the army overseas No decision could possibly please everyone

We have made the decision which we believe will best support the army and reinforce the determination to an utmost national effort in the winning of the war. We believe these ends will mesh the unity and cooperation of the people as a whole. Partisan controversy and division at this time will weaken, not strengthen, the united effort.

If we all do our part, Canada will emerge on the victory from united and strong. That is the Canada we all want to welcome the return of our victorious fighting men.

It away until today it is negligible. Allied submarines destroyed 13,000 tons.

Submarines carried the war as far north as the Gulf of Finland.

The final phase came in October, when, with cruisers, destroyers and escort carriers Admiral Sir James Somerville's destroyers, 43 ships and seven aircraft. As one British captain said of the Fleet's campaign: "The fun here is practically finished." In the Mediterranean the Middle's renean has now been cleared.

Marshal Stalin, says The Times editorially, has placed Russia at the head of nations of the world powers on which world peace must in future rest. He has demonstrated inter-dependence of the United Nations in working out the powerful strategy devised at Teheran.

The Times diplomatic correspondent says that Marshal Stalin's precise definition of Japan as an aggressor nation in his speech was expected.

Since the Soviet leaders made a treaty of neutrality with Japan in April, 1941, little comment has been heard inside the Russian Union on the war in the Far East.

Now Marshal Stalin's comparisons between Japan and Germany as aggressors will be full of meaning for the Japanese.

The Second Government in Italy has rebuffed Prince Umberto who, in his capacity as "Lieutenant of the Realm," seeks a plebiscite on monarchy. The Government takes the view that Victor Emmanuel's abdication was a personal act.

Death of Geoffrey Dawson, former editor of The Times, is announced today. The Times three-column obituary declares he backed Premier Chamberlain's appeasement of the Hitler policy because he accepted the Government's assurance rather than the protests of those who, hating speed and range of German armaments, thought the Chamberlain Cabinet wrong upon facts of the European situation.

May Recall 1st Canadian Corps

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP). — The possibility that the First Canadian Corps in Italy may be brought back to fight as part of the Canadian First Army in Holland was reported today in a dispatch from Reuters to the Montreal Gazette and Telegraph.

The dispatch, published some hours prior to an Ottawa announcement that Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of staff at Canadian Military Headquarters in London, had gone on leave preparing retirement, had said the combination of Stuart was regarded as "more than a possibility."

The dispatch added this explanation "is described as the first step in reorganization of the Canadian Army by which it is expected General McNaughton will seek to vest in himself considerable power. To-day with those to Holland, assuming that General Montgomery and Field Marshal Montgomery will approve such a plan."

The resignation of Major-General P. J. Montague, general officer in charge of administration at C.M.H.Q., as well as of General Stuart, is expected, said The Telegraph, one of three London morning papers to publish half-column reports from Canadian correspondents about the current controversy. The subsequent Ottawa announcement said General Montague would return to Canada "for duty."

"General Stuart's position is regarded as untenable in Ottawa military circles since the reports provided much of the foundation on which Colonel Ralston based his case for assisting conscript troops overseas," The Telegraph said.

"More significant, it is said General Stuart was the chief of the chief staff who either will or will not assist Ralston when the decision was taken to break up the Canadian army and send a division and later a corps into action with the Eighth Army to Sicily.

"General Stuart accompanied Colonel Ralston to England in December when General McNaughton's retirement as commander of the Canadian Army was announced. It is upon secret here that General Montague also was employed 'to ease negotiations.'"

A dispatch in The Times from Ottawa said Prime Minister Mackenzie King's decision to broadcast tonight "implies that the Government has decided to take some action that will allay the deepening unrest that has developed in the country since Colonel Ralston's resignation on the military manpower issue."

"The whole controversy is bound up with domestic political issues and has shaken the position of the Liberal Government which lately had begun to recover its best support in the country" the dispatch added. "To some quarters it is already asserted the Government adherence to the voluntary system of recruitment for overseas service is merely an attempt to appease political opinion in Quebec.

"This view is based on the assumption that is is only men drafted in Quebec who have failed to volunteer but abstentions are not confined to Quebec. A fairer interpretation of the Government's policy would be that Mr. Mackenzie King is satisfied that, despite conscription, would create a domestic controversy that would weaken rather than help the country's military effort."

Daily Express report from Ottawa says: "Canada is solid for Canada," and said that upon what Prime Minister Mackenzie King says tonight "depends the future of the Canadian Government."

Wheat Transport

Stating he did not wish to leave Parliament in doubt, Minister of Trade Mclvor said Canada did not know the quantity of the wheat crop of the United States in 1844-45 and to maintain the export figures of exports as 1943-44. "we will have to have compensating markets in Europe and elsewhere for any reduction in United States imports."

Disappearance of commercial stocks of all grains totaled 880,000,000 bushels in 1942-44, compared with 230,000,000 in the first three years of the war. In the same period Canadian elevators moved 500,000,000 bushels out of country elevators compared with 360,000,000 in the previous crop year, he said

Commitments for grain, both for domestic use and for export, were to terms of the best estimates of transportation available to the Prairies as the close of late navigation approaches said Mr McIvor.

"We may have a carryover of 300,000,000 bushels or more when on July 31, 1945," he said. Present wheat stocks total more than 900,000,000 bushels

Saskatchewan to Bring Hydro Electric Survey Up to Date

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Nov. 8 (CP). — Resources Minister J. L. Phelps, of Saskatchewan, announced today a 12-year-old survey of a projected $18,000,000 hydro undertaking on the Saskatchewan River would be brought up to date in line with Government plans to make cheaper power available in the province, to encourage industrial development and facilitate extension of rural electrification.

He told representatives of 18 Saskatchewan municipalities the revision would be made by R. O. Acres, Niagara Falls, Ont., hydro-electric engineer, who conducted the original survey in 1931. Mr. Acres reported then that development of the 125,000-horsepower project 40 miles east of here was "economically and physically feasible."

The meeting heard a report by J. M. Taylor, Saskatoon city electrical engineer, that the proposed project would confer an immediate benefit on Saskatchewan in cheaper power only if the Government bore a third of the cost, with the remaining two-thirds being financed by 2 per cent debentures. His report was read by A. Leslie, Saskatoon city councillor.

The cost of the scheme with a transmission system embracing the steam plants of the cities was set originally at $18,000,000. Mr. Taylor estimated plant and transmission costs would be about $2,000,000 higher today.

The municipalities met today at the invitation of Prince Albert to discuss the advisability of forming an association to work with the Government for the development of the project. It was decided, however, to leave plans for the association in abeyance until completion of the new survey at the dams.

A committee consisting of Mayor C. B. Brock and Ald. J. L. Sens of Prince Albert, Mayor J. A. Deniset of North Battleford, was named to call municipal representatives together for the post-survey meeting.

Reserve Decision For Transport Men

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP).—The Federal War Labor Board today reserved judgment on a double appeal against a British Columbia War Labor Board decision affecting some 2,500 employees of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co., Ltd.

The British Columbia Board, on an application by the Amalgamated Association of Street Railway and Motor Coach Employees (A.L.F.), ordered an increase of 6¼ cents an hour to the B.C. Electric workers. Present rates for journeymen are from 80 to 86 cents an hour, and for operators of one-man cars, 85½ cents.

The company is appealing against the increase, while the union is appealing to have its original demand of increases of from 16 to 20 cents an hour made effective and a number of changes in working conditions introduced.

Frederick Dorland, president of Victoria Local of the Street Railway Employees' Union, went to Ottawa with Vancouver and New Westminster representatives on Sunday to present the union's case. He will report to the local at a meeting next Tuesday.

The question of bringing several new driving buses on the Esquimalt run for the company into the wage agreement was one point made at Ottawa by Mr. Dorland. Higher wages for mechanics and tracklayers, as well as for operators, are sought.

Airman Killed

F.O. IAN HECTOR MACLEAN

Son of Mr and Mrs. Hector Maclean, 178 Joseph Street, who has been missing since September 23, and is now officially reported killed following a raid over Munster, Germany. The R.C.A.F. reported having recovered his body. A bomber-gunner in a Lancaster, he had completed 21 sorties over Europe. Born here, he was graduated from Victoria High School and Victoria College, enlisted in 1942, and went overseas a year ago last August. His funeral was held on November 7 at Brookwood, Surrey. Two brothers in the R.C.A.F. are Sgt. Bruce Maclean, now undergoing air-crew training in Canada after two years overseas, and Flt. Lieut. Donald Maclean, attached to the R.A.F. on the Burma front.

Born in Victoria, the brothers received their education at Oakland School, and in July, 1941, "Pte. White left Canada with the Prince Corps, 11 months after his enlistment here Spr. White joined the R.C.E. in September, 1943, and arrived in England last July, and for the first few weeks had been serving with his unit in France.

Stoker Charles Palmer, Royal Canadian Navy, is a Volunteer Reserve. He has completed leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Palmer, Dominion Road following two years' overseas service, and is returned to an East Coast station.

On Rescue Work

WITH R.C.A.F. IN THE MIDDLE EAST — "I just reach over and drag them in." In those words P.O. Jack Briggs, of 3076 Estes Road, summed up his work as captain of an R.C.A.F. air-sea rescue launch.

P.O. Briggs commands a sleek 63-foot vessel at an air sea rescue point somewhere in the Middle East, and his remark about dragging them in is no idle boast because he is a well-muscled six-footer and won a services heavyweight boxing title when he was in England.

He went to England in 1938 and joined up in air-sea rescue work in the R.A.F. At the outbreak of war he was stationed on the south coast and during the first 18 months he was on the crew of one of the rescue launches which dashed across the Channel to pick up friend and foe alike. He was later transferred to the Middle East and joined the British Army in its push from Alamein.

P.O. Briggs has had his share and more of "story book" adventures in the war, having been forced down by a mandoo to being chased by a squad ron of friendly planes.

His biggest chuckle of the war came one day when he was rescuing a Nazi airman.

"When we drew alongside" he said, "I took out a big jack knife to cut off his parachute harness. He must have thought I was going to carve him up. You never saw a man look so scared in your life."

Three Years Away

P.O. R. Williams, R.C.N., Youngest son of Mr and Mrs. J. Williams, Maywood Road, is spending his first leave in Victoria after more than three years at sea. Aboard H.M.S. Jamaica for the past year, he left Victoria in August, 1939, aboard H.M.C.S. St. Laurent, and spent most of his time on Atlantic patrol. He is staying with his wife and family at 936 Cadboro Bay Road.

Spending Leave Here

PTE. R. H. CURTIS

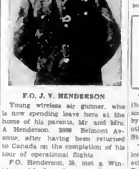
Eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Curtis. Pte. Curtis, 23, a paratrooper is spending leave with his parents at 12 Boyd Street. Born in Victoria and educated at South Park School, he was employed as a welder at the V.M.D. before enlistment in April this year. His two brothers overseas are Wenston with the R.C.E.M.E. and Leslie with the R.C.A.

Returns to Station

F.O. EMILE FRITZ

Of the R.C.N.V.R., who has returned to Halifax after spending 14 days' leave with his wife and daughter at 2831 Bridge Street. A native of the Prairies, F.O. Fritz was born and educated in that hatchewan and was employed here at V.M.D. before enlistment. He is the son-in-law of Mrs. A. Medd, 1014 View Street.

Back From Overseas



F.O. J. V. HENDERSON

Young Victorian airgunner, who is now spending leave here at the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs. Jack Henderson, 2006 Belmont Avenue, after having been returned to Canada on the completion of his tour of operational flights.

F.O. Henderson, 20, met a Winnipeg girl, Jean Lawson, when he was stationed near there prior to going overseas in October, 1942. A typical wartime romance, they were married last week in Winnipeg after which the officer and his bride continued their journey West. A brother, John, also a flying officer, who is engaged in experimental flights from his station at Suffield Alberta, has come home to greet his brother as Mrs. Henderson put it: "a happy and thankful family reunion for all of us."

Flyer on Leave

Flt. Sgt. O. W. "Paddy" Birchall, 22, young air gunner who has completed 11 months overseas and a tour of operational flights attached to an R.A.F. squadron, is now home for a month's leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Birchall, 1619 Hampshire Road.

They had been informed by a telegram from New York that their son was on the continent but had no idea when he would arrive. At 9.30 o'clock last Saturday morning the young flyer burst into the house unexpectedly. A marvelous surprise" said Mrs Birchall, who said that moments had not anticipated her son's arrival.

Educated at Oak Bay and Duncan schools, Flt. Sgt. Birchall enlisted 18 months ago, and prior to that was employed for a time at the Dunlop Hotel.

His father was a captain in the engineers during the last war.

The War Today

By EDGE L. SIMPSON

(CP War Analyst)

The first post-election news from the war fronts served only to underscore what had been said not only by President Roosevelt, but by all other participants in his United States Presidential campaign.

That is that certain victory now is long, hard and bloody roads to its achievement still lay ahead both in Europe and in Asia. There was no disagreement about that here or in London or Moscow.

The first reaction in Washington and London to Roosevelt's re-election was agreement that it paved the way for an early and urgently desirable new meeting of the Anglo-Soviet President with Churchill and Stalin. That has obviously been delayed by the American political situation.

The essential fact about a new Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill meeting is that it will deal primarily with political and post-war matters rather than military considerations.

The only discernable circumstance which could turn the new meeting of the "Big Three" into a military conference would be Russian readiness to take a hand soon in the war against Japan. The Stalin anniversary speech pinning the "aggressive" label on Japan has stirred wide speculation on both sides of the Atlantic.

Reports from Moscow commenting on the American election scene leave no doubt that had Mr. Roosevelt been defeated the Russian attitude would have been one of watchful waiting to say the least while the war and peace policies of his successor were weighed.

Navy League Proposes Model of Lighthouse

A second "lighthouse" is proposed for Victoria but it would be only a temporary one on the corner of Pandora Avenue near Quadra Street, has been a source of concern very since it was erected seven years ago.

Authority to have a model lighthouse stand in the streets halfway down the Causeway during Navy Week, November 14 to 20, was asked in a letter received at the City Hall yesterday from Victoria Branch of the Navy League of Canada. The request was referred to C. M. Irwin, city engineer; D. R. Kennedy, city building inspector, and the city police works committee.

The Navy League Branch said the Dominion headquarters, wanted to have 20-foot lighthouse models erected in 12 Canadian cities during Navy Week.

JAPANESE AB NURSES

EARLSO, Nov. 8 (CP).—The new Canadian, Japanese-Canadian newspaper published here, said its latest issue that hospitals in 36 Ontario centres are willing to accept Japanese girls born in British Columbia to train as nurses. Junior or senior matriculation is required depending on the hospital.

LONDON (CP).—Military authorities use 2381 dwelling houses in Greater London.

Aches and Pains Grew Less and Less

Writing of her experiences in the heavy air raids on London, Mrs. W. Haynes says: —

"Doubled in the air raids of some months ago, I spent many hours on a great pond of water under debris before I was rescued. Whether it was that constructive working or not, I do not know, but after treatment in hospital for severe shock, I suffered pretty badly for months from rheumatic pains. Well, a friend of mine who has taken Kruschen Salts for a long time, made such a point of my taking it that I did so. Slowly but surely the aches and pains grew less and less, and now I clean the day I took Kruschen. For at last I know rest from pain."

—(Mrs.) W. Haynes, London

There are thousands of people in Britain and Canada to-day who are doing as Mrs. Haynes did. At the first sign of rheumatic pains, they call in the cold tilly Kruschen to counter-attack Kruschen has a double action. It is both laxative and diuretic. That's why it helps to clear away the acrid from the system in a quick and natural way.

Kruschen Salts is obtainable of all Drug Stores at 36c and 72c.

Well Done, Victoria!

Victory Loan officials announced in the city last evening that Greater Victoria, in common with all other Vancouver Island communities, had attained its first objective in the Seventh Victory Loan. There will be sincere gratification at that. It is a report on a community that is doing its duty in the war and because it wishes to do that. To all those who have demonstrated their faith in this country, to all who have supported Canada afield, today we can say: "Well done!" And we do say that—right heartily. The thing to do now is to make it unhumorous to press on. If possible, to the $7,000,000 mark. Then we shall have completed our task with enthusiasm.

There is no strength in this land, or in any other, to compare with the willing action of its citizens. Where they combine, as they have done in the Seventh Victory Loan, they can carry any objective in their stride. That is the ninth wartime appeal for funds in Canada, and the fact that everywhere it is going over handsomely makes the best report that can be given of Canada. The news will cheer those who are overseas fighting for us. It will be welcomed by our allies in the United Nations. It will speak for Canada herself within the British Empire. It is another blow at the enemy.

It is time now to raise our sights, and to keep them. Canada needs that victory for its home front. It must continue to be demonstrated that we are in the war, and mean to be in it—and that we are going to see it through to the very end. Here is one way in which all people today can speak to that issue. Their actions will count. As the Seventh Victory Loan closes on the largest volume of investment ever reported in Canada, that result will proclaim itself to the world. Here in the Greater Victoria area, we can make it $7,000,000 if we try. For those we love, and for those who fight for us, let us try.

Substantial Lead

President Roosevelt, re-elected beyond doubt or question, will have substantial backing in both Houses of Congress for his fourth term. The roster of electoral votes yesterday was growing in bulk favor as reports were sent to report. It appeared possible that the President would approximate a two-to-one victory over his challenger, Mr. Dewey, showing strength even in states that were believed predominantly Republican. With the domestic political of that result we are not concerned; but there will be broad satisfaction that the people of the United States in speaking have made their voice clear. President Roosevelt has been given a go-ahead mandate in the war.

It is one of the real factors for victory upon the side of free peoples that they are nearing the crux of the world conflict with united and tested leaders. Prime Minister Churchill in the British Empire. President Roosevelt in the United States of America, and Premier Stalin in Russia, hold between them the confidence of hundreds of millions of people around the world. It is possible under such conditions to oppose a united front to the enemy, and to keep that front from developing any rifts or breaks. That is being done.

The result of this week's balloting in the United States we believe to be of world consequence in the war. There need now be no delay and no check. All that was in train can move forward without let or pause. There will be no respite for the enemy in the field. Indeed if anything is clear it is that this result will itself be a crushing psychological reverse for both Germany and Japan. They sought division and unrest among the United Nations. They find themselves confronted with an unbroken wall. Upon our side, there will be full realization that America has in a sense, laid aside domestic politics to get on with the war. That result is heartening, and it will contribute directly towards victory. President Roosevelt's mandate has been made unconditional.

Stranding the Enemy

It was announced from London yesterday that planes of the Royal Air Force had again drained the Dortmund-Ems canal, one of the vital waterways in northwestern Europe. The attack was made by heavy bombers at the pre vious week-end, and was eminently successful. Once again German barges were stranded in the mud of the canal floor. Once more German transportation found itself at a standstill by reason of Allied air power. Heavily hit on a number of occasions, the Dortmund-Ems canal has been drained dry for part of its length on two occasions. It is a short but important waterway, a vital link in the enemy's industrial machine.

In the light of direct attacks such as that, blows which have the immediate result of slowing down the enemy, and stopping in part at least his war production, German claims to have released another "secret weapon" against Great Britain fall a little flat. The "V-2," reputedly a larger type of robot bomb, has been anticipated for some time, but up to the present its arrival has not been officially announced. No weapon that must be fired at random can compete with sighted targets and pressed home attacks.

It is by such threats at the Meuse and Eder dams, the Dortmund-Ems canal and at many another special target, that the Royal Air Force has given Germany an interior problem that today is accumulative and telling. To halt war production at its source is to interfere with the enemy's effort up to the elsewhere a power house is put out, with wholesale disruption of a geared and interrelated war effort. By such blows the Allies are surprising the enemy deep within his own lines, and the Luftwaffe appears powerless to stop it. Time will show what "V-2" amounts to, if indeed it has been used against London. Meanwhile, no one has to guess at what it meant by the draining of the Dortmund-Ems canal.

The Cairo Murder

Many of the elements leading to the interment of racial prejudice seem to be present in the assassination at Cairo of Lord Moyne. For that reason, if for no other, thinking people will have little disposition to prejudge the case until all of the facts are known and recorded officially. To say now, as is being said, that two Palestinian Jews, members of an obscure order sworn to fight for the freedom of Israel, slew the British Minister is not enough. It has yet to be proved who the assassins were, in whose name they served, and of what weight and importance may be this body of hotheads and malcontents.

What must be borne sharply in mind in that instance is that from the start of the war the Nazis have overlooked few opportunities to make trouble in Palestine and Egypt. Germans money flowed into both countries at one time, and it was money that bore no good will to our side of the world war. Japan was doing the same thing in India, in Burma, in the Malay States. In Palestine itself there have been numerous uprisings, and in some instances the roots of these have been traced to enemy agents directly. Lord Moyne encountered in the suppression of these revolts by virtue of the office he held.

It would be making a serious mistake, however, to halt the inquiries, and not to wait for the facts. Among the United Nations the Jewish race is not upon trial. All of the tinder and and explosive of Palestine, all of age-old clash between Arab and Jew, may have nothing to do with the assassination at all. Two men are held for trial for a cowardly murder. Of course they will say they were inspired, but that is one of the issues of the trial itself when it comes. Meanwhile, it is impossible to form any judgment of the real matter until all of the facts are known. Provocative rumors are part of the enemy's hand, not ours.

Unofficial Migration

One of the oldest and surest of migrations between Canada and the United States is now going on. Northern birds are banding to go South. Some of them will fly an amazing stretch, 3,000 miles of a round trip, before they will be back again on the Canadian scene. They have neither visas nor exchange warrants. There is no border for them in fact. They commute over what must be one of the longest flights in the world, some birds halting only in the republics of South America.

The robins are noisy over their packing. They are banding in groups of fifty or more birds. They fly between meadow, park and orchard, picking up unconsidered trifles, doing the branches of their like in fun notes on a musical scale. The meadow lark sings snatches of their brilliant repertoire, sing and break off into sudden silence. They are packing, too. The humming-birds have long since gone. The ducks are moving southward at a more leisurely pace, feeding in the rice swamps against their migration in clear weather. For weeks the geese have been coming down out of the Arctic, honking forlornly in the night.

Man berates his climate but the birds select their own. It is likely that they follow the surest supply of food. But there is more to it than that. They have a preference in the matter of temperature, and every means of indulging it. They are continental trippers, all save the resident clan of hardy Northerners. The stay-at-homes will have the woods, the fields and the beaches to themselves and also the weather—but perhaps they like that.

Seen in Passing

If "the weather" had earth-will holding that man in the most ungrateful of all the animals. It would respond by snowing, hailing, sleeting, raining and thundering simultaneously, until man acknowledged that on the whole he has been very well treated since the last Ice Age. Four seasons and a Summer with plunge is a fair return from a planet one can neither invite nor persuade to depart.

At It Again!

We prefer to be terse
I say things he reads worse
So we only state here
That we very much fear,
Our friend dear old Ottawa's at it again.

We cannot but think
That we are on the brink
Of strange dooms down there.
And we shed many a tear,
For it looks as if Ottawa's at it again.

It is to our shame
To play such a game
In the midst of a war.
Such has ne'er been before—
Oh, why is dear Ottawa at it again?

Gallant Rescue

By L. R. B. SHAPIRO
North American Newspaper Alliance

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY ON THE SCHELDT ESTUARY, Nov. 6 (By Wireless).—Of all the vicious actions fought to clear the approaches to the port of Antwerp none has attained the horror of the attack along the causeway between the Breskens and Hoofdplaat islands. Of all the deeds of heroism that have emerged from troops who were locked in this close, desperate battle probably none was endowed with the inspiring light brought strength and courage to a sixty little Canadian from Vancouver, Corp. Alex Morris, whose classic journey of mercy approaches the quality of a true miracle.

The causeway is a mound of mud and cobblestones rising out of the flood waters of the Scheldt Estuary. It is about 40 yards wide and runs straight as a die for 1,000 yards between the islands. It is held and blockaded by the enemy in his fortified island like a tin duck in a shooting gallery.

A Canadian battalion opened this attack on Walcheren on a foggy midnight. The leading company crept cautiously on to the causeway, the men carrying their supplies on their backs. A huge crater in the dead centre of the causeway made it impossible even for a small tracked carrier to bridge across.

Corporal Morris' platoon slithered forward. Before 100 yards of the causeway had been crossed the enemy guns on Walcheren opened up with a terrifying concentration of accurate firing. The Germans had ringed the causeway by two days. Heavy artillery, mortars, machine guns and even anti-tank guns raked the Canadians. The troops took cover in the slopes of the causeway and then moved slowly westward when there was a slight slackening of this withering fire.

At dawn they had progressed 400 yards, and the Germans, entrenched along the Walcheren coastal flats were plastering them at a range of 300 yards. Casualties were very high, unburied while teams of stretcher-bearers wearing large Red Cross armbands struggled back with the wounded.

At full night of day Corporal Morris's platoon commander, a big, raw-boned lieutenant, was killed. He was cross-ing about the last stretch of the causeway to make a reconnaissance. He had gone about 100 yards when a mortar exploded in the mud at his feet. He fell, his chest pierced by a fragment, and he lay very still.

When Corporal Morris reached him blood was oozing from his mouth, but he was conscious. There were no stretcher-bearers left at this forward point, and the only way back to the nearest regimental aid post was along the 800 yards of open causeway, which was now under every gun in the German arsenal.

Corporal Morris flung the lieutenant's limp figure over his shoulder and started back, stumbling and slipping on the muddy slope of the causeway. How Morris managed to carry his commander all the way back to Beveland Island is something the commanders cannot explain. The only know that they saw him do it.

They saw him struggling upright with his heavy burden. He was only half of fire that was pinning down a whole battalion. Yard by yard, with heavy machine-gun and mortar fire constantly raining around him, he stumbled along the causeway.

The miracle that endowed him with the strength to do what many a soldier should possess also endowed his journey with success. He reached the lower end of the causeway without being hit, and officers from an artillery observation post hastened out to carry the wounded man the last few yards to a medical officer's dugout.

The man of this Western Canadian battalion have a lot of stories to tell of the murderous causeway battle, but they talk mostly about Corporal Alex Morris and how he saved his lieutenant's life. And when they talk about this it is in soft tones as though they were awed by something deeper than the fortunes of war.

According to Charles Walls, successful bridge is the triumph of mind over chatter. . . . From The Chatham News: "It is a generally accepted fact that people today are making more money than at any time in the past. It is well to remember that this prevailed just prior to the depression in 1929. . . . According to a story from Holland, a member of the underground arrested the Quisling mayor of a small town, and remarked: "I shall be interested to see how you behave when Allied authorities arrive." The traitor haughtily replied: "I shall put on my hat and walk out." The loyal Hollander then asked: "What will you put your hat on?" . . . Prof. Raymond Pearl of Johns Hopkins University claims the following make for long life: Lower blood pressure and slower pulse than the average. Long-lived parents. Thin body build. No hard physical labor after 40 years of age. Abstaining from alcohol, or merely moderate indulgence. Non-use of tobacco. The right occupation. No overeating and a sensible diet. Optimism. Intellectual zest. Absorbing interests. Good luck in regard to accidents. . . . Ancient Persians believed that rheumatic pains could be relieved by flogging the complaining part of the body for hours with a thin twig. Hungarian doctors early in the nineteenth century firmly believed a diet containing plenty of oranges would help clear up tuberculosis. They also prescribed skin massages and baths of orange juice and water. . . . In Manchuria and Korea the Japanese have vast deposits of iron, shale, oil, coal, magnesium, aluminium, copper, lead, antimony and gold. They are also reported to be extracting bromine and magnesium from the ocean.

ANOTHER VIEW

Sir,—It is regrettable that the Victoria committee has given permission for football matches to be played at the Athletic Park, Caledonia Avenue. I understand our city paying parks have hitherto been kept inviolate for sporting games, as other places are available.

If these parts are now to be open for any kind of sport on Sundays it is a poor lookout for our young folk and a stigma on the city.

One knows the pros and cons, but the fact remains that these city parks should be closed on Sunday sport, and I am sure it is the opinion of many football fans and Boy Scout day observers.

ARTHUR HINDER.

50 Moss Street, Victoria, October 8, 1944.

AN ARENA

Sir,—A campaign is under way to boost a civically owned arena, and asking support of property owners and the vote for its by-law. Would you permit a few words on the other side of the question? Sport is something to encourage, but not at the expense of the property owners. Undertaking a site, or giving tax concessions, the city would be doing its share, but to put the taxpayers in the position of putting up a large sum to build an arena, and perhaps have a deficit to face in the future for the upkeep of an arena, is another matter.

Privately owned business of this kind is run on a profit and loss basis, or be successful. Civically owned, what has the taxpayer to fall back upon—if, by mismanagement or any reason, it is not successful? Who knows what the future holds for us when this period of good wages and plenty of money ends?

A few years ago the city had to take over considerable property from defaulting taxpayers. Let us avoid, if we can, the over-burdening by unnecessary indebtedness of the city. We may be called upon to provide considerable amounts of money to purchase public utilities, such as light, power and street railways. There are plans on the original site of the city to acquire and would be used by all of the city dwellers and operated for their benefit. We should bear this in mind when we vote at the civic elections.

Lieut-Gen. Kenneth Stuart Resigns as Chief of Staff

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, 49, Ottawa chief of staff of the Canadian Military Headquarters, London, has gone on leave pending retirement, Defence Minister McNaughton announced today.

No successor to succeed Stuart was named immediately, but Maj.-Gen. Price J. Montague, general officer in charge of administration at C.M.H.Q., London, would continue to hold his present post.

There had been reports that both Gen. Stuart and Gen. Montague had either resigned or would be retired. These reports arose after Gen. McNaughton succeeded Col. J. L. Ralston as Defence Minister after a Cabinet crisis over the reinforcement question.

Col. Ralston's resignation came after a tour of the battlefronts during which he is believed to have gathered information for his argument before the Cabinet on the need for conscripting home defence troops for overseas service.

Gen. Stuart accompanied Col. Ralston back to Canada and it was understood his trip was for the purpose of supporting Col. Ralston's views if his advice was sought.

Gen. Stuart at present is visiting Montreal on personal business, and when approached today on the subject of his retirement, he said he was "not at liberty to discuss" the announcement.

The announcement said:

"Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., chief of staff in Canadian Military Headquarters, London, has proceeded on leave pending retirement. Gen. McNaughton, Minister of National Defence, announced today.

Coincident with the announcement, he stated that Maj.-Gen. the Hon. P. J. Montague, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., M.C., V.D., senior officer of Canadian Military Headquarters in charge of administration, will continue on in his present post.

Lt.-Gen. Stuart was appointed Chief of Staff, Canadian Military Headquarters, London, in December of last year.

Gen. Stuart, tall, grey-haired and ruddy, took over C.M.H.Q. last December 27 when Gen. McNaughton left his field command through illhealth. Gen. Stuart, former Chief of Staff, filled in as temporary army commander until he was relieved by Lt.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, obtaining field experience as a corps commander in the Mediterranean.

The reasons by Gen. Montague might be designed, it was believed, to quite persistent reports that he also was slated for retirement. While it was indicated he might assume command of the First Army, a military spokesman pointed out he had reached the age of 62—retirement age for an overseas chief.

There was no official word here as to who might eventually assume command at C.M.H.Q. When Gen. McNaughton announced Col. Ralston there were reports the High Command might be shifted about.

However, the general recently said he had "complete confidence" in Gen. Crerar and this was taken to mean that he would continue as army commander.

However, unofficial reports in military circles here said it was possible Gen. Crerar might be asked to take an administrative command either in China or Europe to help Gen. McNaughton, with his volunteer policy.

If this should develop, military circles said it is expected Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, of Kingston and Victoria, might be promoted to command the First Army.

Gen. Simonds, who acted as army commander when Gen. Crerar was ill recently.

Gen. Stuart served with distinction with the engineers in the First Great War and won the D.S.O. During peacetime he held various army posts and besides being Chief of the General Staff he was for a time commandant of Royal Military College, Kingston.

Gen. Montague was a Winnipeg lawyer and junior. He finished the First Great War as assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general of the 2nd Division. He went to British as the outbreak of war and aided in organizing C.M.H.Q.

Pont-a-Mousson, Malancourt, seven miles southeast of Metz, and Aix-les-Bains, midway between the two. Several hundred Germans were reported killed and hundreds more captured.

There was little change on the Holland front. Polish troops of the Canadian First Army were pushing down the last pocket of 300 German troops at the approaches to the wrecked Moerdijk bridges across the Maas River. On Walcheren Island British troops under Canadian command were squeezing out another last German pocket northeast of Domburg.

Capt. Ludwig Serlorius, leading German military commentator, said Gen. Patton had opened "a large scale attack" in an apparent attempt to break through to the Saar River which runs along and just inside the German border some 30 miles northeast of the axis of Wednesday's assaults.

By mid-afternoon the Americans had crossed the shallow Bistle at seven points on either side of Rohrbach, which is seven miles east of Pont-a-Mousson on the Moselle River, and had captured four small villages.

Roosevelt

recorded at 11 p.m. (EWT) on Tuesday night, with 48,000 votes divided the rival tickets.

Mr. Roosevelt galloped away with the other states in the heavy electoral vote counts New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri, California, Massachusetts and Ohio.

It was also becoming increasingly apparent that the Administration will have a predominantly Democratic Congress.

The Democratic grip on the Senate, already firm before the elections, was being increased and the fall of such Republican die-hards in that chamber strengthened the Administration's position.

One of these was Republican Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, who was named by the President in one of his speeches as an opponent of international co-operation.

In the House, where a numerical majority is 219, the Democrats had gone far beyond that figure, taking at least 24 seats away from Republicans, who had 213 before the election.

The overseas service vote, which cannot upset the Presidential outcome may swing some of the congressional elections.

ALLIED PATRIOTS GLAD OVER RESULT

Foreign comment, both enemy and Allied, today treated the re-election of President Roosevelt as a victory for internationalism in the United States.

The British Press, anticipating a conference in the near future among Mr. Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, said the election results should strengthen Mr. Roosevelt's hand in such deliberations.

The German Foreign Office quoted in a Berlin broadcast, said the election results showed "a tendency to depart from isolationist principles and a stronger tendency to intervention in European affairs We shall have to take this fact like future considerations."

Tokio propaganda, in broadcasts recorded in New York by the Federal Communications Commission, declared it made no difference to the Japanese whom candidate won, and implied surprise that Americans should take time out in the midst of a "decisive war" to select a new President.

Russia, frankly favoring Mr. Roosevelt's re-election, greeted the result with elation, the Soviet having been chilly toward campaign discussion of the "Communism danger" within the United States and fearful that a change of Presidents would have temporarily weakened Allied co-operation.

Chungking was described as happy at Mr. Roosevelt's success.

The Australian Press expressed satisfaction at Mr. Roosevelt's victory.

Relaxation of previous strict prohibition against questioning troops on the Western Front on the electoral brought generally favorable comment on Mr. Roosevelt's victory, although front line troops still showed no great interest.

In the six congressional races, two Democratic candidates—Hugh Delany in the first district and Representative John Coffee in the sixth —were conceded their election by Republican candidates. Another Democrat, Representative Henry Jackson in the second district, was assured of election by his strong lead, although Republican Payson Peterson refused to concede.

In three other districts, the issue was still in doubt with the Republican incumbents, Representative Hal Holmes in the fourth and Walter Horan in the fifth, holding leads over their Democratic challengers. In the third district, Democrat Charles Savage, logger and businessman, was leading Representative Fred Norman, Republican seeking re-election.

The company handled purchases representing more than $100,000,000 in supplies for the Alaska Highway and other projects.

New Testament Saves Soldier's Life

L.-Cpl. Jim A. MacGowan, of Ottawa, is here showing his battered New Testament, which stopped a mortar bomb splinter in France last July. Wounded but alive he discovered that the splinter had torn through 264 pages to stop at Chapter 12, 15th verse, Book of Hebrews. The verse reads: "O Death Where Is Thy Sting? O Grave Where Is Thy Victory ... But Thanks Be to God Which Giveth Us the Victory Through Our Lord Jesus Christ."

Crerar Returns To War Front

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH THE FIRST CANADIAN ARMY IN HOLLAND, Nov. 8 (CP). —Lt.-Gen. Crerar today resumed command of the First Canadian Army following an illness of one month, and he told war correspondents at his headquarters: "I do not think I have ever felt better in my life."

His illness was diagnosed as dysentery and enteritis by Canadian and British Army specialists in England, where he went after completing plans for the operations in which his forces cleared the Germans from the Scheldt Estuary approaches to Antwerp.

After a period in hospital and a good rest in his country, the 56-year-old general is fully recovered and, although he looked a little pale, he appeared in vigorous health and talked to the correspondents for more than an hour.

Lt.-Gen. Simonds, of Kingston, Ont., commander of the 2nd Canadian Corps, who ably acted as army commander during Gen. Crerar's absence, now resumes his regular corps post.

Gen. Crerar said he had no desire to return to Canada until a good portion of his troops return after Germany is beaten.

He said he felt his position in the priority list for the return troops would be average—somewhere in the middle of such a move.

The army commander had high praise for the way in which Lt.-Gen. Simonds directed the Scheldt battle

Mathew Halton

"Vive la liberte!"

"That's what the will to freedom means," Mr. Halton declared.

Mr. Halton described a French woman who knelt in a slit trench on "D" Day and thanked God for the invasion even as her home was being shelled to help the troops.

He spoke of Caen, "utterly destroyed," and of a tunnel defensive which had escaped destruction and in which 2,000 men, women and children sheltered. It was dug to a depth of 60,000, of whom 20,000 left before the Allied attack. Of the remainder the Allied bombs and shells killed 3,000 and wounded 17,000. The air-sticking troops were prepared for a cold reception, even hostility.

Yet when Mr. Halton entered that church—the first Allied uniform the people had seen for years—2,000 went out into a square and hung there a flag they had embroidered, and sang the Marseillaise.

"Those of us who saw it . . . knew what freedom means," Mr. Halton declared.

Quoting Tolstoi, he spoke of "the finest flowers of courage, of generosity and self-sacrifice blossoming in war." He told of many instances of soldiers sacrificing themselves—of a wounded ambulance driver who carried on because there wasn't time to get another driver, of a wounded man beaming up with another to destroy an anti-tank post; of ambulance drivers striving, to cross a river in Italy and bring driven back, and of mule trains that took their place.

OUTSTANDING FOR SENSE OF INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

The Canadian soldier, Mr. Halton stated, had proven again and again his sense of individual responsibility. This was responsible for the success directed by Major-General R. F. L. Keirie, C.B.E., crossing their "D" Day objectives ahead of any other Allied troops. It was apparent when British soldiers slipped bareheaded, stopped Rommel at El Alamein. He had seen it repeatedly in Empire troops.

The first Canadians he saw in action in Italy were "one of the finest formations that ever left any country—the Seaforths of Vancouver." Mr. Halton stated. He spoke of the valor of the Seaforths and Edmontons at Ortona.

Describing the advance of the Canadians in Caithjer—Ar. on Ortona he watched from a pigpen 400 yards from the enemy—Mr. Halton said how fighting troops received him, and how their bases mounted as they went into action.

"The more I see of war the less I understand it," he declared.

Mr. Halton was given an unusual ovation as he rose to speak—spontaneous cheers by the gathering. He was introduced by Rev. George Biddle, president of the Canadian Club, who was his Commissioner when he was a boy in Alberta, and was thanked by Harry Hodges, Victoria Times' editor.

Nye Is Defeated

FARGO, N.D., Nov. 8 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye and Congressman Usher L. Burdick will be among the missing when the new Congress convenes in January.

Both losing conceded defeat in North Dakota's general election, Nye to Governor John Moses, Democrat, and Burdick to Congressman William Lemke and former Congressman Charles R. Robertson, both O.O.P. nominees. Burdick ran as an Independent after losing the Republican senatorial nomination in the June 27 primary.

Replacing Governor Moses at the helm of the state, meanwhile, will be a Republican, Fred O. Aandahl, Barnes County farmer, to whom both his Democratic and Independent candidate opponents conceded his election to the governorship today.

With 1,060 of the state's 2,258 precincts reported, Moses had 56,867 for the Democratic ticket, Aandahl 40,184 for Nye and 27,695 for Lynn U. Stockman, former national commander of the American Legion, who ran as an Independent after losing the Republican senatorial nomination in June.

In the governor contest, with 1,060 precincts reported, Aandahl had 68,- 010 as compared to 34,546 for William Depuy, Democrat, and 21,098 for Alvin C. Strutz, Independent.

400,000 Margin In California

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 8 (AP).— The Democratic tide from Tuesday's election rolled up a majority of more than 400,000 for President Roosevelt in California today and sharply reduced the Republican strength of Jaw-Blaze s Congressional delegation.

Senator Sheridan Downey, Democrat, came through with a sweep nearly 24 hours of uncertainty is complicated by a mixup in the tabulations of one populous county.

The returns left one Congressional race in doubt, with the Republican candidate, Representative Orrl Harrison, in the lead, and two other Congress races only tentatively decided in favor of Democrats. That indicated the next California Congressional delegation would be composed of 14 Democrats and seven Republicans. Two years ago it was 12 Democrats and ten Republicans by 13,141 to the 14,941 precincts, the Presidential vote was Roosevelt, 1,867,051; Governor Thomas E. Dewey, 1,784,802.

Stay Proceedings Against LaPlante

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—A stay of proceedings on two charges of assault, two of armed robbery and one of burglary, against Alfred LaPlante, was entered in police court today by Crown counsel, the prosecutor.

LaPlante was sentenced to life imprisonment last week when he pleaded guilty to three criminal assault charges. In addition he had been convicted or pleaded guilty to four charges of breaking and entering, two of armed robbery and one for possession of a loaded revolver and one for possession of housebreaking instruments.

Mercy Flight Is Successful

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—The mercy flight of Mrs. and Mrs. Sidney Waldman was out of danger here tonight, hospital officials reported after they arrived in an R.C.A.F. plane which had taken part in a mercy flight from the Waldman home in the Queen Charlotte Islands.

The R.C.A.F. aircraft brought the sick baby and her mother in from Beatty Anchorage 300 miles northwest of here. One of the planes flew the child to a point along the northern coast of British Columbia where a plane piloted by Fl. Lt. "Bing" Aalund took over and flew the party here in a record three hours.

Sentence Commuted

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP) — Gnr. Leslie Joseph Doyle, 38 of Kingston, Ont., sentenced to be shot to death when found guilty on a charge of murder by a field general court martial in Italy, has had his sentence commuted to life imprisonment and now is in a Canadian penitentiary, it was learned today from Defence Headquarters.

Evidence at the court-martial established that Doyle shot and killed a sergeant in his unit, later killed another sergeant and a gunner, and wounded a bombardier so severely that he subsequently died of wounds. Doyle then attempted to commit suicide by shooting himself through the head but recovered from the wounds, headquarters said.

Urge Lifting of Some Restrictions

MONTREAL, Nov. 8 (CP).—Delegates at a two-day meeting of the Canadian Soldiers Supply Association today approved a brief asking Federal authorities to lift "some" of the wartime restrictions.

The meeting, opened today, was called to discuss matters affecting the builders supply industry in the postwar period.

Delegates from all sections of Canada are attending.

Mathew Halton Paints Vivid Picture of Canadians at War

"No troops on earth have such a sense of individual responsibility as the Canadians," they have something special, and the tragedy of war is that they are lost to Canada, Mathew Halton, C.B.C. war correspondent, told the Women's Canadian Club members yesterday at an evening meeting in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Interrupted several times by applause, he described the first battle in which Canadian and British troops had fought gallantly and with initiative—Buron, Mt. C. Pulley, Miss J. Fisher, Miss L. Rowland and Miss I. Morgan.

Is home baking different from commercial baking?

Of course!

That's why you need a home-type flour!

How home-type flour improves all your home baking

Commercial bakers need one type of flour . . . you need another. Because your home-size recipes, your oven, even your baking powder and shortening are different.

To get perfect results in home baking you need a home-type flour, like Kitchen Craft. It makes your cakes and biscuits lighter, more tender . . . your pie crusts flakier. Because —

Kitchen Craft is light-bodied: Mixes smoothly and quickly with other home-type ingredients to give fine even texture in all your home-baked foods.

Kitchen Craft is properly milled: Retains desirable moisture in your pastries, cakes and breads in spite of the drier heat of home ovens.

Kitchen Craft is dependably uniform: Absorbs the same amount of water each time — so you can always follow your recipes to the letter.

Change to home-type Kitchen Craft Flour. You'll be delighted at the improvement in all your baking. Kitchen Craft comes in several convenient sizes at your grocer's.

IT'S A FACT! ALL MY BAKED FOODS TURN OUT PERFECT SINCE I SWITCHED TO HOME-TYPE KITCHEN CRAFT FLOUR!

JUNKET RENNET TABLETS

Shares Interests Of Her Husband

So startled to have her husband home that the loneliness and anxiety of the past few years are almost forgotten, Mrs. Mathew Halton, wife of the noted Canadian war correspondent, is enjoying his first visit in several years. He has seen his young son only twice.

"I am more fortunate than most of the girls," she said. "At least I can hear his voice, and that means a great deal." Their two children, Kathleen, a pretty seven-year-old, and David, only four, also listen faithfully to every broadcast, and when daddy came home he was not a stranger. "Kathleen follows the war very carefully."

Mrs. Halton spoke sympathetically to several service wives who were introduced to her, and to a comment that their men had been away so long they would be almost strangers, she said reassuringly:

"I've felt that way, too, but when they come back it's almost as though they had never been away." She shares Mathew Halton's deep interest in the men who are fighting this war. Since his return he has had hundreds of telephone calls from relatives of men missing in action, asking for information and hope; stories of others have sustained her. Asking if he knows his fate, she is sure Mathew Halton endeavors to answer all queries.

Asked if she would like Mr. Halton to change his profession, she shook her head. "He would, anyway; he wants to do all he can."

Mathew Halton speaks of the soldiers overseas with deep feeling. His voice is vigorous and his words have a no-nonsense directness. His charming, cheerful wife has been in the ground of his broadcasts. Here on the Victory Loan appeal for only a short time, his time is taken up with public functions, but she does not complain.

"I am going to have him for a whole week in Vancouver, as they tell me," she said yesterday. Coming from England shortly after the outbreak of war, Mrs. Halton gave birth to Vancouver.

Don Cossacks Thill Audience

Sonorous and compelling, the beautifully blending voices of the Don Cossack Chorus, heard last night at the Royal Victoria Theatre, roused the audience to enthusiastic applause. Special request numbers, "Song of the Volga Boatmen," "Dark Eyes," and the finale, "Brave Soldier," were particularly well received. Nicholas Kostrukoff was the exceptional director.

Featuring an amazingly swift dancer, Volodia Lasarev, "Kossichok," Cossack number, ended in a lively dance with several taking part and the group singing in the background. The well-disciplined voices were heard to special advantage as instrumental background to soloists and dancers.

Another favorite number, "Song of General Platoff," was a splendid vehicle for their stirring voices. N. Khodarin was especially good as the baritone hero. The same soloist was heard in "Glory to the Lord," the opening number. V. Mamontoff, tenor, took the solo in "Snow Over Russia," a simple, nostalgic aid, with great depth of feeling. S. Stepoushkin, bass-baritone, was soloist in the impressive "Credo," and again in Oulitsky's aria from "Prince Igor" (Borodin). M. Dedovitch, tenor voice heard in "Evening Bells" and in the lovely lyric song of "The Nightingale," was another outstanding member of the group.

The program was divided in three parts, with the Cossacks in traditional garb, showing first blue smocks, and red for the second part, while for the last they wore shiny satin blouses. Langhlas," a Caucasian Cossack dance, concluding the second chant, featured G. Solodukin, one of the finest dancers Victoria has seen perform. Dancing with precision and grace, his performance was breath-taking, and he handled the long knives of the steppes with dexterity at the finale of his number. "Roused Be the Mist Shrouds" a triumph of tonal quality; "Song of the Plains," a clever arrangement giving the sound of hoofbeats as a background.

It is the second performance the Don Cossacks have given in Victoria. The first, being three years ago. Formed in Prague in 1926 by Mr. Kostroff, they have given 4,642 performances and last year toured 63 American service camps in 49 weeks. They have also been in 46 countries, coming to America for the first time in 1938.

Technicolor Hit Showing at Atlas

Once again 20th Century-Fox has delved into the rich lore of a great American tradition and has come up with a picture that is at once a thrilling romance, a stirring drama as well as triumph of thrillingly exciting entertainment.

Gloriously filmed in Technicolor, "Home in Indiana," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre, is an utterly welcome sequel to 20th's two memorable excursions into the romance and drama of horse racing, "Kentucky" and "Maryland," both of which this new film surpasses in breath-taking beauty, dramatic impact and stirring action. Featuring Walter Brennan, Lon McCallister, Jeanne Crain, Charlotte Greenwood, June Haver and an outstanding supporting cast, the picture is based on the celebrated Saturday Evening Post serial, "The Phantom Filly," by George Agnew Chamberlain.

'Private Hargrove' Comes to Cadet

Here comes Private Hargrove, right out of the pages of the best-selling book read by more than a million Americans, on to the screen to be seen by several million more. "See Here, Private Hargrove" created a literary blitz when it was published early this year. Since then it has been reprinted in The Reader's Digest and in hundreds of newspapers. The film version of the hilarious best seller is now at the Cadet Theatre.

Robert Walker, Hollywood's newest rave, was a keen selection for the top role. Since his introduction as the sailor boy in "Bataan," he has been the toast of movie followers everywhere.

Hilarious Comedy Opening at Rio

Universal's "Jail House Blues," a new kind of screen comedy musical taken right out of the newspaper headlines, is the current attraction at the Rio Theatre.

Nat Pendleton heads the cast and is assured with him are such well-known players as Anne Gwynne, Robert Paige, Horace MacMahon and Elizabeth Risdon.

A musical show recently presented by the convicts of a state penitentiary provided the basis for the fast-moving story of "Jail House Blues." Pendleton appears as a paroled convict who insists upon remaining in prison, while he produces a musical comedy with his fellow inmates as the performers.

DOMINION THEATRE — The classic pianist Jose Iturbi turned to boogie - woogie, and now eminent character actor Charles Laughton does the same. Laughton and Robert Young have recorded a duet in which they sing "Certain From Blarney" for a comedy sequence in M-G-M's "The Canterville Ghost," in which they are co-starred with Margaret O'Brien. The film ends tonight at the Dominion Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE — At last Hume Cronyn, noted for his sensational Canadian screen characterizations, looks his true age. He plays the role of Paul, Spencer Tracy's young friend, in "The Seventh Cross." M-G-M's screen adaptation of Anna Seghers' novel, currently featured at the Capitol Theatre, Cronyn made his film debut in "Shadow of a Doubt," followed it with portrayal of the French prisoner in "The Cross of Lorraine," and then was featured in "Lifeboat."

PLAZA THEATRE — Jane Powell, who is the singing sensation of the year, plays a fun-starved screen star in "Song of the Open Road," who longs to break away from her well-disciplined existence to join a group of merry youngsters who are out to help the farmers bring in their crops. Getting no co-operation from the studio and her ambitious mother (Rose Hobart), Jane runs away and joins one of these groups.

Entertain Noted Visitors at Tea

Mr and Mrs. Mathew Kaldin were guests of honor at a tea given by the Children of France in the Empress Hotel following the Women's Canadian Club meeting yesterday, when a large number of guests met the noted C.B.C. war correspondent.

Countess de la Feld received the visitors for the Children of France and was assisted in pouring tea by Mrs. Alan Campbell, president of the Women's Canadian Club, and Miss Kathleen Agnew. Mme L. O. d'Hervieux, president of the society, introduced the visitors to Mathew Halton and Mrs. Halton was also assisted by the vice-president, Mme R. D. Parsons.

Sir Robert Holland spoke briefly, praising the energy and detail of the war correspondent's speech. "He has painted pictures with his voice," he said, "and given us a moving picture screen. We feel a reserve of power there, and the eloquence of a man with a crusade."

Dean S. S. Hilsell added warm praise for the "thrilling spiritual message," and said that as a lover of France he was grateful for the vivid pictures Mr. Halton had depicted. We must keep in our minds the sight of those French-Canadians and all the other Canadians fighting side by side with equal gallantry. It will do more than any other thing to bring unity to the land of ours. I hope he impresses this unity on all Canada from sea to sea."

Among the other guests at the tea were:

Mrs. H. D. Parlesu, Mrs. R. M. Heggie, Mme Orfilalon, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman, Lieut.-Col. Langlois, Lieut.-Cmdr. and Mrs. C. T. Trekle, Mme. M. Perrusel, Miss E. S. Mowatt, Mrs. W. H. Struck by Train

TRAIL, Nov. 8 (CP)—Arthur Turnoff, 21, former Trail fire chief, died in hospital here today from injuries suffered when he was struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train at nearby Blueberry Crossing Tuesday. Mr. Turner was a guard for West Kootenay Power & Light Company at Blueberry and was to work from his home in Castlegar. He was walking along the track when the train came from behind on a sharp curve and struck him.

Crown Refuses to Supply Evidence

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP)—The Crown's refusal to supply copies of the evidence for the appeal of William Schmidt, one of four men convicted of the torture murder of Mrs. Viola Jamieson, of Flanders, Ont., will be considered Monday before Chief Justice R. S. Robertson and the Ontario Court of Appeal.

The four men convicted of the murder of Mrs. Jamieson, George and Anthony Skrypnek — were sentenced to hang December 8 after a trial at Port Frances. Mrs. Jamieson died of burns received in her Flanders home June 16 when she was seized and placed on a hot stove after refusing to disclose where she hid her savings.

In appealing the jury's verdict, Schmidt, saying he has neither money nor means of paying for evidence taken at the trial, seeks to have copies of evidence furnished by the Crown. The Crown maintains that his reasons of appeal are insufficient to justify a new trial, and that it will therefore not supply the copies.

In his appeal Schmidt contends the trial judge erred in failing to direct separate trials when the Crown produced separate confessions for the four men, though they were charged in a joint indictment, and argues that the Crown failed to notify defence counsel before the trial that separate confessions had been made

Schmidt maintains that the trial judge erred in directing the jury that its verdict must be either one of murder or an acquittal, and that they had no right to return a verdict of manslaughter. He further claims that a confession by Tillonen should not have been admitted until another statement, which police admitted had been made to them, had been produced to the court.

Three Provinces Top Loan Quotas

OTTAWA, Nov. 8 (CP)—National headquarters announced tonight that three provinces—Nova Scotia, Saskatchewan and British Columbia —shared the honor of being the first to go over the top in purchase of Seventh Victory Loan Bonds.

The announcement said all three had passed their minimum objectives both on sales by individuals and on overall totals but gave no figure. Graham F. Towers, general chairman of the War Finance Committee, congratulated the provinces.

Meanwhile, the national total for the loan stood at $1,750,381,650, about $40,000,000 ahead of the same stage of the Sixth Victory Loan. Of the total, $470,660,550 represented individual purchases. The minimum objective for the three-week campaign, which ends this week, is $1,200,000,000.

Headquarters also announced that the combined total of the three armed services now has exceeded the total they raised during the 18 days of the Sixth Loan. Sales on the 14th day of canvassing to the armed services amounted to $1,310,-00, making a grand total of $48,-166,800 or $369,800 more than their final figure in the Sixth Victory Loan.

The army now stands at $20,098,-556, $248,150 above its Sixth Loan figure and 118 per cent of their original minimum objective.

HORNELL, N.Y., Nov. 9 (CP)—three persons were killed today when an army plane crashed into the side of a hill near Tuthepburg, 25 miles south of Hornell, Sheriff Benjamin Baines said. Nine persons were aboard the plane, but the other occupants parachuted to safety, Baines asserted.

According to Culbertson

One of the most difficult phases of bridge is the proper use of signals, i.e. high or low cards to direct the defence. Let's look at a good example deal:

North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable

NORTH
♠ A Q 8 7
♥ A J 10
♦ Q 8 5
♣ 8 4 3

WEST
♠ 10 5 4
♥ 8 5 3
♦ J 10 4 3
♣ A Q 5

EAST
♠ K J 9 3
♥ Q 9 7 2
♦ K 8 6 2

SOUTH
♥ K 6 4
♦ A 7
♣ K J 10 8 7 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 NT	Pass
3 NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

North's two diamond bid was somewhat fancy but let's forget about that.

West opened the heart nine, hoping to "hit" his partner. The 10 and queen were played, and South won. South promptly returned a heart to get to dummy and then led a club to the jack. West shrewdly held off so as to break the club communication to the closed hand. Declarer sensed, however, that he could not afford to take out any more of dummy's high cards at this stage, so he laid down the club king. West won—and East discarded the deuce of diamonds. That was the death knell of the defence. West, following orders, shifted to the spade 10. The queen was put in, and East won. On the low spade return West's nine forced the ace, but dummy's 8-7 constituted another spade stopper. Declarer knocked out the club queen and then had plenty of tricks.

It was true that East wanted spade leads to his king-jack—but only under certain circumstances West could not have had better spades than he actually had, yet the defenders found it impossible to win enough tricks in the spade suit to upset the contract. This brings us back to the play of the diamond deuce, which was an emphatic order for West not to lead diamonds. What East really should have done was to discard a heart on the second club, this "neutral" signal leaving it up to West to shift to spades or diamonds according to his own holding and judgment.

Painful, Pus Filled Boils the Cause of Much Misery

If you suffer from boils you know how sick and miserable they make you feel.

Boils are an outward indication of impurities in the system, and just when you think you are rid of one another comes up to take its place and prolong your misery. All the lancing and poulticing you can do may not stop more coming.

To help overcome boils you should purify the blood, an why not give that old, reliable blood medicine, Burdock Blood Bitters, a chance to show what it will do in helping you get rid of them? Thousands have used it for this purpose for the past 60 years. Why not you?

Canadian Cruiser Uganda Makes Visit to Homeland

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN

practically all Canadian, represent-powerful ship of war—the cruiser Uganda—has dipped her keel in the water of her adopted homeland for the first time, received the salutes of her fellow fighting craft, and has gone off to seek the enemy on the open sea.

Standing like a titan among the lesser vessels of the Dominion's small-ship navy the 8,000-ton package of punch came here from the United States navy yard where she had been turned over to Canada October 21. She had spent several months in the yard for the repair of war wounds suffered in hot action with the Royal Navy.

But there were no signs of the ravages of battle as the cruiser made her bow to Canada—her 548 feet of fighting power spiky with literally dozens of guns.

Uganda's fresh appearance belied her record. Already in her short career she had taken on a tough feist wound in the blistering job of protecting the Salerno landings in the Mediterranean last year.

A Nazi glider bomb aimed through her upper deck, plunged past decks and then went out the ship's bottom to explode—beneath, mercifully. Crippled and with her plates badly torn, the Uganda was saved only by her-fight damage control.

Members of her crew said the injury had not affect on her gunnery-thiness or fighting efficiency.

"She's a good ship" said Cmdr Hugh Pullen, of Oakville, Ont., second in command to Capt. E. R. Mainguy aboard the Uganda. "She gets well and she has a good feel to her."

Most of the 56 officers aboard the big craft are Canadians. a few British officers remain in the engine rooms to familiarize the Canadians with the intricacies of her geared turbine system. The crew of 800 men that the Uganda carries is Kingpins of Uganda's offensive armament are her six-inch guns, which give her more slugging power than any other Canadian craft, Jane's Fighting Ships lists an even dozen six-inchers, plus eight four-inch anti-aircraft weapons and six smaller guns.

The Uganda resembles a self-contained community. There are machine shops, blacksmith shops and other adjuncts; even a compact bakery where hundreds of loaves of fresh-baked bread could be seen awaiting the plans of those 800 crewmen.

Abandon Nudism As Civil Threat

CRESTOVA, Nov 8 (CP) — Use of nudism among the Sons of Freedom radical Doukhobor sect, as a weapon to impress Doukhobor demands on the outside world was announced by elders of the sect in a declaration issued today.

"We announced unto all the world that the waging of nudism was effective in us only up to the year 1944," the Doukhobors said in the document which was signed "Elders of the Spiritual Community of Christ, Krestova, B.C."

Decision that nudism had failed as a protest against authorities was reached by the 24 elders only "after grave conflict and struggle," the declaration continued.

"It has been unanimously resolved that nudism among us . . . shall not be further affected toward the outward world, but only as a method of revivication of the Free Spirit of Christ within ourselves—as a means for the conquest of the spirit over flesh and the extirpation of the principle of private ownership."

Nudism was first authorized by the Doukhobors as a protest against authority in 1903 in Saskatchewan when authorities attempted to have them naturalized.

V.M.D. to Repair Damaged Freighter

A gaping 20-foot hole in the bow of an American Liberty Freighter which collided with another 10,000-ton ship off the coast of British South Pacific in September during a heavy rain squall, will be repaired by the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd. Work on the ship is expected to be completed within a month. She is now lying alongside the filling wharf at No. 2 yard, and will be drydocked soon.

JUVENILE SOCCER BOOMING HERE

Future of the grand old game of soccer seems assured here with the announcement that the Lower Island Junior, and Juvenile Football Association is enjoying its most successful season in more than a decade.

Talking with Don Gray, energetic secretary-treasurer, we learned that more than 300 youngsters, ranging in age from ten to 18 years, are playing in the minor loops. Sixteen teams are operating, and officials are still working hard to increase this number.

As recently as last week new clubs were admitted into the fold, and, according to Mr. Gray, prospects for other teams are exceptionally bright.

High school representation in the association is strong, with teams from Esquimalt, Saanich and Esquimalt, Mount Douglas, Mount View, Oak Bay and Reynolds, high school students are all playing in regular competition and have good squads.

Some idea of the amount of energy played by clubs in the association can be seen by the fact that over 200 league fixtures are listed each season. In addition, cup knockouts, Lower Island and Provincial playdowns considerably boost the total number of matches.

Organizing and planning the activities for 16 clubs in the four divisions of the minor soccer circuits entails a lot of work, and Messrs. Lewis, Clarke and Gray, officials of the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association are to be complimented on their fine work.

Organized athletics have often been mooted as a means of curbing juvenile delinquency, and in this connection it must be said that those in charge of junior and juvenile football are certainly doing their share.

Them, too, there is the future of the game, one of the oldest in Canada. The boys who are playing in the minor circuits today will be providing the senior competition in the future, and should be given every encouragement.

Greatest problem with the youngsters at the moment, according to Don Gray, is equipment, but even here the players are co-operating in every way possible, despite the general shortage.

As we see it, so long as the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Football Association is blessed with an energetic executive such as it has at present, the game will prosper here. May their good work and their success continue . . .

New Zealand XV. Triumphs

Whips Army, 13-0 in Rugger Match

Playing on a rain-soaked, heavy field, Royal New Zealand Air Force ruggers from Trebo yesterday defeated the Army, 13-0, in an interservice Rugby fixture at Work Point Barracks. The airmen set up an 8-0 lead in the first half, and added five points in the final stanza.

Work of the backfield, three-quarters, who were responsible for all of their points, was outstanding. It was only due to the slippery condition of the ball that there was not more scoring. Army, playing together for the first time and fielding a number of inexperienced players, put up a game exhibition against the airmen.

Johnson and McLachland crossed the goal-line in the first half, with one of the tries being converted by Herrin. Scores at the interval ata 8-0 for the eventual winners.

In the final stanza the visitors added another try when Trollope put the finishing touches to a smart piece of passing by Johnson and Herrin. Hanna converted to make the final score 13-0.

LINE-UPS

Royal New Zealand Air Force: Pyle, Johnson, Herrin, Crawford, Semmens, Miller, Greig, Rush, Jarrel, Avery, McLachlan, Hanna, Stewart, Johnston and Trollope.

Cleveland Barons Nose Out Flyers

ST LOUIS, Nov 8 (CP)—Cleveland Barons eked out a third period tally by St. Louis Flyers, made an early start and for a 2-1 victory, and handed the Flyers the third consecutive defeat in an American Hockey League game here tonight, before 8,644 customers.

George Blake rookie left winger of the Flyers personally accounted for three of the Flyers' four goals. Kendall got the other.

Casanova, Bishop, Sproul, Cunningham and Burlington scored for Cleveland

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 8 (CP)—Hershey Bears blanked the fast-shifting Pittsburgh Hornets, 11-0, in the American Hockey League game here, 2,200 fans tonight.

Herr Hersey scored three times while Gordon Pettinger was credited with four of the Bears' goals.

Urge Study of Trade Union Act

REGINA, Nov. 8 (CP)—Ross Kennedy, of Winnipeg, assistant secretary of the Prairie Division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, told tonight Saskatchewan branches have requested the Provincial Government to refer the Trade Union Act to the law amendments committee and postpone the proposed legislation until the next session of the Assembly.

Because of the far-reaching importance of the bill, not only to industry but the general public as a whole the various branches have requested it be referred to the law amendments committee in order to provide an opportunity for a thorough study and consideration and for representations from interested parties' he said

The C.M.A represents about 90 per cent of industry in the province. The Trade Union Act—the bill to regulate collective bargaining legislation in Canada—would give the Labor Board power to appoint a controller of any business or industry that disregarded or disobeyed orders in the Provincial Labor Relations Board

It would make it possible for every employes of the province to join a union or his own choosing, dissolve company unions, and impose penalties on employers who continued a number of unfair practices to reapers in employees There would be no appeal from a board under the proposed act.

There is no duty we as much underrsue as the duty of being happy.

Reject Plan of International Ownership of Trunk Airlines

CHICAGO, Nov. 8 (CP).—By an unrecorded vote the International Conference on Civil Aviation today turned down the Australia-New Zealand proposal for international ownership and operation of trunk airlines, but the British delegation at the conference stands on a proposal for international control similar to that advanced by Canada.

Millions of people throughout the world who placed trust in the wars for peace and international cooperation would be disappointed if the conference did not act, said Sir Drakeford.

He contended any lesser move than internationalization would deny real sanction to a just measure of participation in international aviation and allow the creation of vested interests which would militate against later establishment of adequate control impossible.

All delegations would welcome internationalization if it could be achieved, but not being able to achieve the ideal they were bound to work for what was practical. It was not practical to put the "interests of many people in the hands of an instrument still unknown and unfashioned."

With the internationalization proposal out of the way, the next most commendable approach toward international control before the conference is that Canadian and British plans which differ in detail but agree on an international authority which will allocate routes and frequencies as between countries entering air services.

The core of the Canadian-British proposals is unacceptable to the United States, it was learned.

Comment on U.S. Election

NEW YORK, Nov. 8 (CP).—Editorial comment of representative United States newspapers on yesterday's Presidential elections included:

Denver Post—"Many factors entered into President Roosevelt's re-election, but beneath them all was his fear of domestic reaction, in the setting up of the World Security Council. He can meet Mr. Churchill and Marshal Stalin again, backed by a terrific vote of confidence to win the war outright—and the peace."

The Evening Standard said: "The tri-umvirate which set the world regards as the supreme architects of victory have fallen in every whit as colossal and inspiring as the grim conduct of the war."

The Evening News, saying that Britain had kept its lips sealed in an attitude of elaborate impartiality during the campaign, observed:

"It would be hypocritical to pretend that President Roosevelt did not have our friendly, if unspoken wishes in the fight."

"America will lift even harder now that all her belligerency can be used for export," The News declared.

DECISION UPHELD

SYDNEY, Nov. 8 (CP)—A decision important in Australian arts was given in Sydney Equity Court today as Mr. Justice Roper dismissed an action challenging the award of the Archibald Portraiture Prize for 1943 to Sydney Artist William Dobell. The court action was brought by two artists on behalf of a group who contended that Dobell's prize-winning painting of a fellow artist, Joshua Smith, was a caricature and not a portrait as required by the Archibald Prize conditions.

Roosevelt Gets British Headlines

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP)—London's three evening newspapers all banner-lined President Roosevelt's re-election, and editorials hailed the result.

"Above all," said The London Star editorially, "he has now authority to act without fear of domestic reaction" in the setting up of the United Nations peace machinery.

The Evening News, saying that Britain had kept its lips sealed in an attitude of elaborate impartiality during the campaign, observed:

"It would be hypocritical to pretend that President Roosevelt did not have our friendly, if unspoken wishes in the fight."

"America will lift even harder now that all her belligerency can be used for export," The News declared.

236,027 Invest In Victory Loan

By The Canadian Press

British Columbia-Yukon Territory went over the top in the Seventh Victory Loan campaign Wednesday when public investments for the day reached $2,007,000 from 5,362 applications.

Returns rushed forward as public interest quickened in the closing days of the campaign and when the last tabulation was made today 236,027 persons in this province have bought bonds to the value of $85,982,300, or 101.45 per cent of the $84,800,000 objective.

British Columbia still requires almost $2,000,000 from people of average means to top the $87,516,300 mark set in the Sixth Loan last spring.

Overall total for British Columbia-Yukon area to date is $131,807,550, which includes public, national and large applications. The latter stands at $48,090,250.

Individuals investing in the loan so far total 236,027, and war finance officials are hopeful that this figure will reach a record 300,000 before 5 o'clock.

Armed forces with 138 per cent of $2,000,000 objective still lead the divisions. West coma Coast and Vancouver suburban, tied at 106 per cent, and Vancouver city at 104.

Outlines Plan On Child Hygiene

TORONTO, Nov. 8 (CP).—Calgary's method of recording child hygiene activities was outlined here today by Dr. W. H. Hill, medical officer of health in Calgary, before the annual meeting of the Canada Public Health Association.

Discussing health records of children between the ages of two and six, Dr. Hill told how the department of health endeavors to provide adequate medical attention for this age group.

Before 1935, when "any specific child hygiene program . . . just hadn't existed," the four years between the time a child of two ceased attending the city infant clinics and the time the six-year-old entered school were lost in health department records, Dr. Hill said.

Today, the department has established a recording system whereby children in the preschool-age group are on hand-in record from the day of their birth until they enter school

Whom a child is six months old, Dr. Hill said, a circular letter is sent to each mother outlining preventative measures against communicable diseases. Between the ages of three and four years, another letter is sent to the mother inviting her to bring the child to the preschool clinic for a complete physical examination. A further examination is offered parents of five-year-olds. Thus the child is assured medical protection until eligible for regular physical check-ups provided in public schools.

Brief Submitted

EDMONTON, Nov. 8 (CP)—A delegation from the Alberta Section of United Mine Workers of America, District 18, Tuesday made representations to Premier E. C. Manning and Cabinet members to remove Dr. Victor W. Wright, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and Alfred Parmilo, commissioner of the board.

A brief submitted by a delegation headed by John Stokalik of Calgary, vice-president of District 18, contended that as long as Dr. Wright and Mr. Parmilo are in charge of the administration of the Workmen's Compensation Board, injured workmen never will receive justice.

The miners' organization, it was said, had been forced to contribute more than $1,000 for independent medical examinations in the past 31 months covering cases outlined in the brief. In addition, there was many costs for traveling and other expenses which were paid for by the "local" unions.

The entire cost of these examinations to the miners' organization was put around $4,000

"We claim that it should not be the duty of the workman to go to the expense of securing independent medical evidence in order to prove that the workman's disability was the result of a reported accident or that his disability was greater than that which the compensation board saw fit to allow him. It should be the duty of the board to prove to the workman by medical examination that his disability was not the result of the accident and state definitely what was the cause of the disability the man suffered," the brief stated.

Bennett Speaks

LONDON, Nov. 8 (CP).—Hugh Dalton, President of the Board of Trade, said today war requirements must come first and there was little possibility of expanding trade at present, but added he had "no doubt at all" that trade between Canada and the United Kingdom would be one of the most important channels for expansion after the war. He spoke at a Canadian Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

Viscount Bennett, former Canadian Prime Minister, moving a vote of thanks, said the British Commonwealth is a "partnership family" and "if only I could convince Mr. Dalton a sheltered market within the Empire would be a good thing for the post-war period I'd be a very happy man.

Japanese Going To Logging Camps

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 8 (CP).—Nearly 600 Japanese evacuees are expected to leave sugar beet farms of Southern Alberta for employment in logging camps and sawmills of Alberta this Winter, D. C. Archibald, Alberta representative of the British Columbia Security Commission, said Tuesday.

He explained that two groups have already left this area for forestry work near Chisholm, in the Lesser Slave Lake district, and that more are expected to go shortly to that region and to camps in the Macleod and Bow Slope-Hinton House districts in Northern Alberta.

The first group of Japanese men left last Thursday and was comprised of about 40 workers. The second, comprised of 70 men, left this city Monday night.

Sawmill and logging camp operators have placed orders for large numbers of Japanese workers and more men are volunteering daily for forestry work, but the number of volunteers is still below the demand.

Mr. Archibald said the men will be paid standard rates of wages which prevail for the type of work they do. Married men are being accepted as well as single men.

In clearing beet farms in which they have been allocated, Japanese going to forestry work are given release valid until the end of March, Mr. Archibald said. They are obliged to return to the beet farms in the Spring.

War Not Nearly Over Says Ashton

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—The war is by no means nearly over, Major Frank P. Ashton, British commando officer, told a Board of Trade meeting here today.

"German troops are well trained, they are very brave, and what's more they believe they are in the right and that we are the tyrants," he said. "But that is not all. The troops we have in the Burma theatre will be absolutely useless in Burma until they have had long experience and training."

It would be a long time, he believed, before the Japanese were defeated.

"The Jap has recently doubled his forces in Burma and that country is an easy to defend and as difficult to attack. Experience and acclimatization is necessary, too. During the first six months of this year we had 230,000 sickness casualties among our troops in Burma."

A veteran of the East Asia campaign, Major Ashton told of moving from one camp to another only five miles apart but having to traverse 50 miles to get there.

Attached to General Eisenhower's staff during the planning of the Normandy invasion, he gave details of training preceding it, and the actual management on the beaches of Normandy.

Seek Two Women

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Nov. 8 (CP).—Police today sought Mrs. Julia Newhart and Miss Mary Bliss, both of this city, who were scheduled to appear in city police court Nevember 2 charged with harboring a German prisoner of war who escaped from the internment camp here. The prisoner, Joseph Gerstmeier, 19, sliding at the home of Mrs Newhart and Miss Bliss.

Pleading guilty to the charges October 26, the prisoner was released upon their own recognizance to await sentence November 3. When they failed to appear for the hearing Magistrate W. R. Ellis issued a bench warrants for their arrest.

DEMOCRATIC SWEEP

BOISE, Idaho, Nov 8 (AP) — The Democratic sweep of all but one state and national offices continued with winning margins today as opponents conceded election of Glen H. Taylor, Democrat, as the Senate; Charles C. Gossett, Democrat, as Governor; Rep. Compton I. White, Democrat, as First District congressman, and Rep. Henry Dworshak, Republican, as Second District Congressman. The Senate gave an ever-growing margin to President Roosevelt.

Prisoners of War Receiving Parcels

In spite of the fact that Allied invasion of Europe dislocated transportation for some time, the 8,340 Canadian prisoners of war are still receiving their weekly food parcels, states Dr. Fred Routley, Canadian Red Cross commissioner.

With opening of the port of Marseilles at the end of October, Canadian Red Cross food ships have been unloading at that port and shipping overland to Geneva. Part of the huge load is carried by a fleet of 36 trucks recently purchased by the Canadian society. Before resumption of port and railway facilities, curtailed for several months, prisoners of war were receiving their parcels from a pool established some time ago by the International Red Cross at Geneva.

There are now well over 300 British Columbia servicemen and merchant marine held in German camps. Recently there have been a few changes in camps as the Germans moved their prisoners farther away from the active fronts. It is reported that Stalag 357, formerly located at Thorn, has now been moved to Fallingbostel, in the vicinity of Hanover. When Stalag Luft VI was closed at Koenigsberg recently, there were 68 British Columbia men moved to Stalag 357 and Stalag Luft IV, the latter located at Tychow. Mail for prisoners should be addressed to their last reported camp.

Next of kin receiving information that a relative is a prisoner of war are asked to immediately contact nearest Red Cross office. Through this channel it is possible to send cables or letters promptly and open the channel of communication. Parcels may not be sent until camp number is obtained.

Expect Long Probe

CALGARY, Nov. 8 (CP).—A Turner Valley gas rate hearing scheduled to open in Calgary in January, may continue throughout 1945 and may parallel in length the exhaustive year-long probe into the entire Alberta oil industry undertaken by the McGillivray Commission in 1938, it was indicated today.

C. M. Blackstock, chairman of the Board of Public Utilities Commissioners, who will preside at the hearing, said it was unlikely a start could be made before January 15.

Mr. Blackstock will decide at the conclusion of the hearing the rate gas producers in Turner Valley will receive whether they sell for immediate use or store for use in the future.

Canadians Helped Hold Nazis While Americans Made End Run

Fighting in the Caen-Falaise area was "a dirty, dogging, bloody, deadly battle" and the British and Canadian Armies "will never get all the credit due them" for "holding the gluten and drawing the German armor so the Americans could make the end run," Ross Munro, Canadian Press war correspondent, in an interview yesterday morning. He is here in connection with the Seventh Victory Loan.

Mr. Munro, who has spent eight years covering war, including the Spanish and Finnish wars, described Stalingrad and El Alamein as the turning point of the war. He has been on all the fronts except the Russian.

Pressed to the use "turning point" down more closely, he placed it at El Alamein on July 3, 1942, when Rommel "could not quite get through," and when a few British, Australian and New Zealand troops "with little more than their bare hands" held the German forces. Mr. Malton has written a book, "Ten Years to Alamein."

The tragedy of the war, the correspondent asserted, was that "the Arnhem affair did not come off." If it had succeeded, several armored divisions were ready to go into Germany, and "the war would probably have been over now."

Mr. Malton stated he would not be surprised to read in tomorrow morning's paper that the Wehrmacht was fighting the Nazis, but the war might go on for six months.

He declined to discuss the problem of Canadian reinforcements, adding "the facts are well known." The troops, he said, "love General [illegible] fence.

Mr. Malton, riding with French tanks, was the first Canadian correspondent to enter Paris, and arrived at the Chamber of Deputies during the fighting there. Afterward he was guided through Paris by the Maquis, and addressed 20,000 Frenchmen from the steps of L'Opera. He knew then "what it is like to feel like a king."

Charged with setting fire to a chesterfield cover in his former home at 2108 Prevwood Road, knowing that the building was likely to catch fire therefrom, W. H. Watkins on city police court yesterday elected preliminary hearing, through

He was arrested on warrant by city detectives on Tuesday, but is charged with committing the act on July 31. Remanded until tomorrow for the setting of a day for the hearing, he was released on bail for $1,000.

J. B. Brandon, counsel for William E. Baker, charged with being in possession of stolen goods, which was instructed by Magistrate H. C. Hall to show that Baker's request to withdraw a plea of guilty had been made in good faith. The charge contains the phrase "and knowing them to be stolen," but Baker said neither this week nor that he did not know the tires to be stolen. The charge still continue tomorrow.

Giving L.-Cpl. Robert Maltby the benefit of the doubt, the magistrate dismissed the charge of dangerous driving. Constable S. Hiscock testified that a car Maltby was driving had failed to stop at a Quadra Street stop sign and had gone over 30 miles an hour. Maltby and a soldier witness testified he had stopped and had gone only 20 miles an hour. Maltby paid a $5 fine for having no driver's licence.

New Schools for Saanich Planned

Saanich School Board has approved a plan of R. Savage architect, for a new school in the Cordova Bay area to house 300 pupils at present using McKinnon's Pavilion, and also a building which was carried daily to Keating and Mount Newton Schools at a monthly cost of $216. Plans for an additional two rooms at Tsolum, Cloverdale and Tillicum schools are also being prepared.

Trustees intend to ask the Department of Education for a grant towards cost of the Cordova Bay school, a new teacherage at Keating and an eight-room school on Rowan Avenue. Balance of extraordinary expenditures will be presented to the Saanich Council on November 15.

Commencing November 13, Saanich schools will open at 9 o'clock instead of in the morning to compensate for daylight saving time. There will be no change in the lunch hour or afternoon dismissal time.

A new salary schedule for teachers, retroactive to September, has been approved by the board.

Many parents have taken advantage of Miss Victoria Stewart's visit to Saanich schools. It was reported yesterday by John Cook, inspector of schools.

Discuss College Course Proposal

Organizing meetings were postponed by School Board meetings last night on Victoria College plans to introduce part-time courses for students not wishing to go on with a university education.

Trustee Miss Isla Turk opened discussion on the proposed "terminal" courses referred to in a recent address by Dr J. M. Ewing, college principal. Miss Turk said they were to start next year. She said a questionnaire had been circulated and that when 96 per cent of students declared university courses rather than vocational ones. High school graduates who had not taken university entrance courses but were found to lack knowledge of basic subjects, be examined.

H. L. Campbell, municipal inspector, said the courses to be offered had not been set yet, and in his opinion would have in be authorized by the board. He understood the aim to be to provide extra training for those who did not intend to go to university. There was no intention of giving commercial courses. The board acted, on his suggestion, to require discussion when more definite information was available.

Trustees W. A. Bavlan and Mrs Margaret D. Christie favored the proposal. Trustee F. O. Mullmer said it was in line with the modern trend, and Trustee Audrey Cochran-Brown pointed out that Dr. Ewing had discussed the matter with the University of British Columbia.

Trustee Mullmer, who has announced himself as an aldermanic candidate, tendered his resignation as trustee, but the board did not accept it.

In his education committee report, Trustee Mullmer said October enrollment at 41 city schools and Victoria College totalled 8,770 was 93 above September enrolment, and 212 over that of October, 1943.

On his recommendation, a free, milder was ordered to investigate the question of providing soup or cocoa to the 10th lunches of students at smaller schools that do not have facilities.

Attendance at 36 night school classes giving 23 courses totaled 626 including 484 service personnel, he said.

After comment on the success of Hallowe'en parties in schools, the board decided to g e the City Council to ask it to continue toward the grant given for the purpose.

Another motorist pleaded guilty to a charge of operating a car without a driver's licence and was fined $5 and $2.50 costs.

Standard Time — Although City Council has not yet discussed the question of reverting to standard time for the Winter, Mayor Andrew McGavin has stated he is favorable to the proposal and the city School Board has gone on record some time ago in favor of a return to standard time as soon as it would not interfere with the war effort.

Electricians Pay—Local 230 of the Electrical Workers' Union voted Thursday to buy $2,500 worth of Victory Bonds. Shop stewards have been selling bonds to members, all objectives being beaten. The union condemned withdrawal of the president, Bill Carney, from the Victoria Island Joint Liberty Conference from the rehabilitation committee committee as detrimental to the interests of organized labor.

Adjutes Cases—Cases of Frederick Rough and Bernard Howard, charged on five counts of conspiring to defraud the Government through the Naval Dockyards traveling expense claims, were adjourned yesterday until 8 30 o'clock tomorrow morning when Magistrate H. Binnett, counsel for Rough, and Clement Dunne in a similar charge, said yesterday he had received preliminary briefs of the Rough-Davies case would be concluded this afternoon so that a decision in the case could be made tomorrow morning.

Found Guilty on Statutory Count

Charged with a statutory offence, Robert Carlow, 18, was found guilty by a jury at the Assizes yesterday afternoon and was remanded by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane to the end of the Assizes for sentence. The jury required 44 minutes to arrive at its verdict.

The offence occurred last November and was witnessed from the Belmont Assizes by Mr. Justice Macfarlane in the absence of a major witness. Witnesses included Squadron Leader Gilmore and Dr. J. M. Moore. No defence evidence was tendered. Gordon A. Cameron, Crown prosecutor, argued in his address to the jury, "There can be no question in your minds of the guilt of the accused."

In his address Stuart Henderson, defends counsel, urged jurors to exercise judgment not sentiment." Mr. Lerchin emphasized the principle that an accused man is held to be innocent until proved guilty and that his must be given the benefit of any reasonable doubt.

At the opening, Mr. Henderson asked the judge to throw out the case, arguing it was not properly before the court, but his motion was denied.

Search Continues

Nearly 175 woodsmen soldiers, airmen and veterans' searchers are combing the Cowichan Lake area for A.C. Leslie Reid, missing since last Friday on a hunting expedition. He was missed about 1.30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the two companions, a civilian, J. McBeth, Beacon Hill, and a fellow airman from Patricia Bay. Reid had left the main group of the woods as he was keen and raised in Saanich and he carried a rifle, ammunition and matches with him, but no food.

The area in which the search is being concentrated is covered with a heavy undergrowth and one is reading only after a short hour hike crossing the swamps. This cutting down the time the searchers may spend in the area.

Utility Question To Be Discussed

Returning yesterday from a meeting of the special Inter-municipal utilities committee in Vancouver Tuesday night, Mayor Andrew McGavin said several cities and municipalities represented at the committee favored having each municipality in control of its transportation system.

He said he favored independent postwar negotiations by Victoria for transportation system bids, rather than having a combination of municipalities, or the Provincial Government, in control. Wanaimo, represented at the meeting by Mayor P. Harrison, and West Vancouver had taken the same stand at the meeting, he said.

The meeting with Premier John Hart to discuss his recent statement in Victoria that a p or B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd.'s assets would be sought by Mayor McGavin, Mayor J. W. Cornett, of Esquimalt, and another representative of the eighteen committees

Red Chevron Association of Island Favors Conscription

Assembling for their annual meeting last evening, members of the Red Chevron Association of Vancouver Island passed the following resolution: "That this organization reaffirm its stand in favor of conscription for overseas service and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the proper authorities in Canada."

Another resolution was passed condemning the action of the Government in stopping training of several thousands of men in the R.C.A.F., "who will probably be required to reinforce the army overseas, in spite of the fact that we have those reinforcements here in the home defence army."

It was unanimously agreed that the present state of officers and the executive serve for the coming year. They are: Honorary president, Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.C., M.C.; president, Col. Rose Napier, vice-president, Brig. C. J. Sutherland-Brown; secretary-treasurer, Capt. W. C. Ellis, executive, Major James Deray, Major H. C. Holmes, Major P. T. Owen, Capt. Charles Mc-Pherson and D. Stuart. Bert Hill, former secretary-treasurer, declined to stand for another term.

Incorporation under the Societies Act was discussed, and it was decided to apply for registration under the act to preserve the rights of the Red Chevron.

Members of the association will parade as a unit on Remembrance Day.

On Tuesday night members of Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, will entertain members of the Red Chevron Association at a social evening in the Canadian Legion rooms, Belmont House.

Members of the executive will meet tonight to discuss the proposal that a copy of this resolution be sent to the proper authorities in Canada.

Another resolution was passed concerning the action of the Government in stopping training of several thousands of the so-called home defence army, and that in view of the consistent stand of the Canadian Legion conventions on the matter of conscription for all, as set out, no individual has the right to ask for Legion co-operation in the continuation of a system that has already failed."

A telegram congratulating the former Minister of Defence on his stand, was sent to Col. J. L. Ralston, and a resolution was passed expressing disappointment at the stand taken by Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton on his attitude toward conscription for overseas service.

Excerpts from two letters written by members of Canadian regiments now in action in Europe, were read. They expressed the fear that home defence troops might be demobilized first, and described the need for more reinforcements for the units which have been on active service.

Flying Infant to Mainland Hospital

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP)—The infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Waldman is being flown here tonight from her home at Beaver Lake, on Vancouver Island, by a Canadian, 300 miles northwest of here, by R.C.A.F. aircraft in a merry flight following a premature illness of an undetermined nature which threatens the child's life. Two planes are engaged in the flight, one taking over at a northern coastal point, after a flight by another from the child's home. Regular stopovers to receive flights have been organized in an effort to get the two-months-old baby and her mother to Vancouver as soon as possible.

4 IN MEMORIAM

ANDERSON—In loving memory of our dear daughter, Marie Ruth Anderson.

Pure, brave, full of goodness and of truth. Responsive to her God, with true but gentle ruth.

Peace, sweet Marie, baby dear that need cannot be healed by magic or friend indeed. Sadly missed by Mother and Father.

Oh! How hard to bear and wait.

Unselfish love are here, beyond our fate.

Many hearts bleed with bread, with pain unseen by.

Only God can see and grace, you there will be.

Reserve with memories, the anguished mood, and the sweetness of your smile there, with the fragrance upon our hearts is her sweet kiss.

Life without her can never be the same.

—Sadly missed by her loving mother.

YOUNG—In fond remembrance of my dear son, Cecil Young, killed in action, Italy, who fell gracefully asleep one year ago today, November 9, 1943.

Not for one moment forgotten

By his loving mother.

Not for one moment forgotten

Has his sad loss come—not one

Day that I have not thought of him.

He would not take her to safer realm.

Where sorrow and pain can never touch him.

Nazi Soldier Obeys Wife

WITH THE CANADIAN CORPS ON THE ADRIATIC FRONT, Nov. 8.—CP.—The 100-pound German prisoners took out the letter he hadn't had time to read before scanned it and erupted in laughter. It was from his wife he explained to the 102 Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps men and captured him the had written: "I would rather have you prisoner before you are killed."

They met at the doorway of a cement Italian farmhouse near the banks of the Fiumicino River, the German not the former Italian leather, Lieut. Lloyd Rutledge, of Toronto.

Rutledge's patrol had crossed the river and Rutledge and Cpl. Mike Hlenduk, Guernsey, Sask., had sneaked towards the house.

The corporal circled around behind the house. Rutledge approached the front door. The door opened and a man looked out and raised "Kamerad!" Rutledge blasted "Bat," too. He said he himself "took him for Mike. He must have come around through the house."

The German in the doorway stepped out and Rutledge suddenly saw him for what he was—the German brigade leader's tommy-gun and brushed it aside as it fired.

They grappled and hit the ground, wrestling. "They were still grappling when Cpl. C. J. Ennison, Kingsmill, Ont., ran up and jabbed his rifle into the German and completed the capture.

Rutledge's was one of the several patrols sent out by a battalion-strength battalion-colonel from Medicine Hat, Alta., to find out what was front stood still before the Fiumicino River. Lieut.-Colonel Commanding Major D. E. Jones, Victoria, another of 35 men sent out under Lieut. A. E. Peel, Bridgeway Ont., and were caught by German patrol fire which killed Cpl. Fred Cook, Ottawa, and wounded three others, before withdrawing. Privates Jack Irving, Somerville, Ont., and two others were back for Lewis' body but could not find it after dawn.

L.-Bdr. J. D. Cruickshanks, Salmo, B.C., went out with a patrol which, at night, three in daylight, without incident.

Major Jones, 37, twice wounded on Italian battlefields, came to Victoria from Alberta with his service in 1941 commanding North Ward School and was associated with the old 16th Scottish before the war.

Nazi Resistance To Get "Tougher"

VANCOUVER, Nov. 8 (CP).—German armed resistance will get "tougher" as the Allies penetrate further into the Reich, Major-Gen. H. A. Young, recently-appointed quartermaster general of the Canadian army, who was in command of Canadian forces in France for more than two months following D-Day, told the Vancouver Rotary Club today in the course of a tour of Pacific Command.

On the morning of "D" Day Gen. Young flew over the scene of the Allied landing operations on the Normandy coast.

"There was a terrific bombardment from artillery troop landing craft and warships and the air was so full of planes you thought any minute you'd bang into one," he said.

Despite the mass movement of ships past Dover on the morning of "D" Day, there was little danger of the Nazi air force making a raid on their cross-Channel guns, Gen. Young said. He had seen only one ship hit by fire from the long-range guns.

"The worst carnage of the war took place in a valley near the Orne River, where British troops and German troops were trapped and subjected to a barrage from 300 artillery pieces synchronized with bombing from Lancasters and Flying Fortresses.

"The valley was chockful of German dead," the general said.

Gen. Young, 46, was born in Winnipeg and joined the permanent army in 1924.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
SWEEPING OUT THE STOMACH AND INTESTINES

A physician sent a patient to get what is called a gastro-intestinal series of X-rays, that is X-rays of stomach and of small and large intestines. When the patient had received a report from the X-ray specialist. The report stated that there was no organic condition present. The physician put the report into a safe and awaited the next visit of the patient which was scheduled for the same week as the previous visit. The patient, however, did not appear at the appointed time. Meeting him on the street the physician asked him why he had not called for the results of his X-rays.

"Oh, I've been feeling so much better lately that I forgot to keep my appointment."

What had happened? The barium sulfate (a form of white clay) which is used by the X-ray specialist to clean the stomach and intestine makes a chalky mixture. It easily traced all the way through the tract of the stomach and intestine. As it moves slowly along it sweeps the lining of the stomach and intestine so that any excess mucus, waste or other unsightly substances sticking to the walls are swept downwards and out of the body. The removal of these substances is often sufficient to restore the digestive, appetite and general digestion, correct constipation so that he feels completely well and remains well for weeks or even months.

These substances besides barium help sweep the stomach and intestines. In an article in Review of Gastroenterology Drs. Morris Bentivelles, Dr Manuel O. Spiteman and Dr. Irving Spiegelman say: "Mineral oil and colloidalkaolin gel is an effective lubricant for the stomach and the large bowel when slowness causes decomposition of the wastes which often results in the very frequent doses of kaolin.

Kaolin or aluminum silicate is an agent that (1) absorbs toxins (poisons) and (2) mechanically carries off large amounts of bacteria and gastases." It is effective in the treatment of ulcers of the stomach and the large bowel when slowness causes decomposition of the wastes which often results in the very frequent doses of kaolin.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON
B.B.C.—LEGAL ANALYSTBONNE

At least one of everyone's lifetime there comes a day when one has to put his or her name to a legal document.

At the end of the lists indicated for the printing of one's John Hancock can be seen the letters "L.S." "What inquires a reader, "does L.S. mean?"

The symbol which has aroused our reader's curiosity is a legal archaicism, that is, it is out-of-date, pattern of speech. "L.S." stands for the Latin phrase "locus sigilli"; it means "place of the seal." The letters are a survival from the days when most people could not sign their names.

With the extension of literacy, seals, except in the case of corporations, were not in use, being supplanted by signatures.

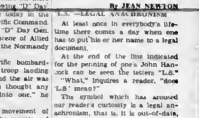
Little Stories for Bedtime

By THORNTON W. BURGESS



Peter Rabbit

"Why don't you give a fella a little warning!" Peter demanded indignantly

PETER RABBIT DUCKS

Peter Rabbit sat just beyond the edge of the dear. Old Bremjatch was watching the Black Shadows creep out from the Purple Hills across the Green Meadows. He was trying to make up his mind whether to go over to the Green Forest or up to the Old Orchard to call on Farmer Brown's garden. The Black Shadows crept across the Green Meadows and the first star began to twinkle faintly. Still Peter sat there undecided which way to go. Suddenly something swept close to Peter's head and he caught just a glimpse of something black in the air.

Peter ducked. Then without waiting any time he dashed back to the safety of the dear. Behind a big patch. "Ha ha, ha!" laughed a funny, squeaky little voice. Whistler the mallard.

Peter looked up with such a look of indignation on his face that Whistler the Bat wheeling and doing all sorts of antics in the air, just managed to say: "Why don't you give a fellow a little warning!" he cried indignantly. "There's nothing right over your head now. Watch me catch him

He turned up, but he couldn't see any bug Flitter wheeled, darted down and Peter caught a snap of his jaws. "That was good. You saw that bug when I couldn't," Flitter laughed his funny little squeaky laugh again.

"I'm not going to talk about bug bilnd as a bat," said he, "but all can say is that if anybody in the more blind than I am he is lucky. It takes good eyes to see at this hour of day the things I feed on and don't you forget it."

There was no doubt about that, Flitter," replied Peter. "I guess I would starve if I had to depend on my eyes to find food as small as the insects you live on. I never thought of it before, but is that the reason you don't about in such a funny way? and do you get all your food in the air?"
